TWO AVIATORS FOUND DEAD IN WRECKED PLANE

Killed After They Lose Way in Fog While Piloting Mail Plane

Burbank, Calif. —(AP)— Art Starbuck and Charles R. Parmelee, pilots of a Pacific Air Transport mail plane, were found dead in the wreckage of their plane on a mountain-side eight miles north of here today.

Flying the northbound night air mail from San Diego, the airmen met death in a heavy fog that shrouded this vicinity. Officials of the Pacific Air Transport company here said they were in touch with the ship by radio shortly before it crashed.

The plane was flying at about 2,500 feet, they said, and the pilots did not report they were unable to find the landing field, although there was a dense fog.

Parmelee was a flier for the Pan-American Airways for four years. Both pilots were married and each had one child. Starbuck lived in Los Angeles; Parmelee in Oakland.

The plane left San Diego at 10:15 last night for Los Angeles. Shortly before midnight officials at the company's airport heard the drone of one engine as the plane circled Burbank apparently in a vain effort to locate the landing field.

Because of the fog, scouting planes could not take off to lead the lost ship to its base.

The fog had lifted somewhat and shortly afterward the mail plane was sighted on the mountainside, a complete wreck.

Both pilots were found strapped in their seats. The ship did not catch fire.

2 ABANDONED CHILDREN PUT IN DETENTION HOME

Racine —(AP)—Marlin, 5, and Shirley, 3, abandoned by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Suchow at Burlington two weeks ago, were taken to the Racine-co detention home today by Mrs. Leona DeMint, probation officer.

The children were brought here from the Burlington farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Miller, where their mother had sent them the day she left. Reports that an aunt had taken them to her home in Kenosha were incorrect, Mrs. DeMint said.

The probation officer said Suchow's parents, residing at Menomonee Falls, Wis., wish to give Shirley a home. They did not express a desire for Marlin because, Mrs. DeMint said, he was Mrs. Suchow's son by a former marriage.

Mrs. DeMint also said, had information that when Shirley was six weeks old her mother abandoned the family. Suchow sent Shirley to his parents' home at that time.

YOUTH KILLED IN FALL ON STEAMER

Another Critically Hurt When He Plunges Through Open Hatch

Sturgeon Bay —(AP)— Andrew Van Dreesse, 19, Sturgeon Bay, was killed, and Andrew Seath, 23, Detroit, was critically injured when they plunged through an open hatch on the steamer Sinaloa, docked at the L. D. Smith shipyard for repairs here last night.

Van Dreesse, a member of a ship-building crew, and Seath, a seaman, were engaged with other workmen in preparing the steamer for launching today. Van Dreesse was sent to turn off the lights in the hold of the ship and when he failed to return Seath went to investigate.

Fellow workers on the steamer heard as he plunged through the open hatch to the floor 14 feet below. Van Dreesse was dead when picked up and Seath was removed to a local hospital unconscious.

Employment Issue Up To Industry -- Swope

$150,000 Loss As Paper Mill Is Destroyed

House, Eight Barns and Garage Also Razed by Flames at De Pere

DePere —(AP)—Damage in excess of $150,000 was claimed today by property owners as result of a fire of undetermined origin that destroyed the DePere Paper Manufacturing company, one house, eight barns, a garage, and damaged a restaurant and several other buildings here.

The flames, believed by firemen to have originated in the paper plant, spread rapidly on a northeast wind and set fire to a dozen other structures.

Leeman Miller, Green Bay, owner of the paper company with his brother, Morris, said the blaze leaped through the plant with such suddenness that he was forced to flee while he was paying employees, and to leave behind $1,500 in currency.

Apparatus was rushed here from Green Bay to combat the fires. Local firemen were mystified as to the cause of the first blaze and were undecided as to whether or not the several fires had the same origin.

Several fires known to have caught from sparks borne by the wind were put out.

The paper company, manufacturer of heavy wrapping paper, employed about 40 persons. The plant was built about 1920 as a boiler factory and later became a paper mill.

GUNSHOT VICTIM DIES IN KENOSHA

Wound Fatal to Arthur Millies, Shot After Minor Auto Crash

Kenosha —(AP)—Arthur E. Millies, 44, president of the Millies Building Society company, Milwaukee, died at 5:45 a. m. today of a gunshot wound alleged to have been inflicted by Donald McCauley, Milwaukee.

The shooting took place on a highway seven miles west of here last Friday night. The Millies and McCauley automobiles had been involved in an accident. As Millies descended from his machine to investigate the damage, McCauley is alleged to have shot him. A few minutes before, Millies aided McCauley and two companions, one a woman, in pushing their car from a road side ditch.

McCauley is held in jail here under $50,000 bond on a charge of assault with intent to murder. Dist. Atty. Morris Barnett previously has said he would change the warrant to one charging murder in case Millies died.

Shortly after the shooting, Millies was brought to St. Catherine hospital, wounded in the abdomen. He rallied, and for a time it was believed he might recover.

McCauley, 37, a first mate of the car ferry Madison, was arrested in Milwaukee last Saturday. He denied the shooting. His companions of the night before, Mrs. Catherine Lonzen, 28, Niles, Ill., and John Hoffman, 44, Chicago, were arrested and were quoted by police as saying McCauley did the shooting. They were held in jail here as material witnesses.

FIVE KENOSHA MEN HELD UNDER DRY LAW

Milwaukee —(AP)—Five men, termed the "Kenosha gang" by federal prohibition agents, today were under $750 bond each for preliminary hearings May 13 on charges of violating the prohibition laws.

The agents said they found an outlaw stillery in a barn near Kenosha. They arrested Frank Smith, Frank Prince, James Butera, Carlo Angelo and Joseph Muto, and brought them before U. S. Commissioner F. E. Jenkins for arraignment.

No sooner had Muto supplied bond than he was arrested by police on a forgery charge accusing him of issuing about 30 fraudulent checks.

EXPLOSIVE FAILS TO EXTINGUISH OIL FIRE

Gladiolus, Texas —(AP)—Seven quarts of nitroglycerine set off at the burning Sinclair No. 1 Cole oil well today failed to extinguish the fire, but dislodged the troublesome Kelly joint, a fitting at the casing head.

The Kinley brothers, Oklahoma fire fighters, express the belief subsequent shots would snuff out the fire. Sinclair Oil company officials said a second charge would be fired late today. A fire in the Pinedown adjacent to the well was extinguished before nitro-glycerin was exploded.

AUDITOR KILLS SELF WHILE HE FACES INQUIRY

Body of Fred Butke, Illinois County Official, Found in Hotel

Chicago —(AP)—The body of Fred Butke, 35, a Kane-co auditor, sought on warrants charging the embezzlement and forgery of $64,904 from county funds, was found in a Loop hotel last night.

He had shot himself through the head shortly after engaging his room Monday evening, examining physicians said.

Butke had, earlier Monday, established an $83,000 trust fund for his wife with P. T. Pullen, manager of the business department of the Chicago Title and Trust company.

Butke's body was discovered when the maid, upon failing to gain admission to clean up the room, called upon the housekeeper and night clerk for assistance.

The body lay on the bed, a pillow over his head. There was one bullet wound in the temple. A .32 caliber automatic pistol, with six unused shells inside, lay beside his limp left hand. Butke's body was fully clothed. On the floor around the bed were many snuffed out cigarettes.

There was nothing to identify him in his coat or vest. He had registered at the hotel as F. W. Beech, Aurora. But a note on the table near the bed said simply "Please notify Charles Borggrebe, Aurora," who is an undertaker. Beneath the note was a deputy sheriff's card of Kane-co which had his picture and name on it. Other cards indicated that he was a full-up member of fraternal organizations and Aurora clubs. There was $105.10 in currency and silver in his pockets.

Steps will be taken as soon as possible. State's Attorney George D. Carbaro of Chicago said, to recover the $64,904 allegedly embezzled from the county.

The missing money had come, principally, from funds of the Kane-co farm and poorhouse, it was charged. He had been ordered to appear at a special session of supervisors in Geneva, the county seat, to explain his conduct. Instead, he vanished, after drawing $700 from the Aurora bank.

No trace was found of him until, during his visit to the Chicago Title and Trust company, he was recognized by John Youngen, an Aurora wholesaler. Youngen spoke to Butke, the latter, somewhat embarrassed he said, rushed out of the bank, leaving his coat behind.

Butke had been county auditor for 11 years. In addition to this, Butke was head of his own firm of auditors.

WISCONSIN P. T. A. HEAD DIES IN MILWAUKEE

Manitowish —(AP)—An illness of nearly one year resulted in the death at Holy Family hospital today of John S. Egan, state president of the Travelers' Protective association and a member of the national board of directors. He was 64 years old.

Death resulted from heart and kidney disease, the first attack of which was suffered last June while Mr. Egan was on the way to New Orleans to attend the national T. P. A. convention. He was taken off at Memphis and returned home. Several weeks ago he went to the Mayo clinic, returning home last week.

Mr. Egan, was sales representative of the A. M. Richter Sons Co. of Manitowish for 28 years, covering the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan territory. He is survived by his widow and two sons. Funeral services will be conducted Friday morning.

GERMANY TO ASK FOR YOUNG PLAN REVISION

Berlin —(AP)—The Tagblatt said today that before the end of the summer Germany will have to ask her creditors for a moratorium or a revision of the Young plan payments because of the reduced yield of revenue from taxation and increased social burdens.

The newspaper adds, however, that the government has not yet reached any decision in this regard and is unlikely to until after the conference with Prime Minister MacDonald, to be held at Chequers next month.

Peavey Asks Intervention In Duluth-Superior Strike

Washburn —(AP)—A telegram from Congressman Hubert H. Peavey appealing for intervention on behalf of longshoremen on strike at Superior, Wis., and Duluth, Minn., went forward to Secretary William H. Doak of the labor department today. The appeal read in part:

"One hundred twenty-five men are on strike in Superior, Wis., and 275 in Duluth, Minn.

"In 1930, the Transit company (the Great Lakes Transit company) paid 70 cents per hour which was barely sufficient for the men to live owing to the spasmodic character of the employment. Company now proposes to cut wage to 60 cents per hour, same conditions. Forty of these striking workers last year averaged five hours per day employment for the shipping season. Total wage received each about $700. Balance of 125 workers at Superior received less than this amount."

"This reduction seems like a brazen attempt on part of Transit company to force these laborers to accept a wage insufficient to maintain American standards of living because of their present desperate need due to long season of unemployment."

"Officials of this company through the press have challenged the ability of these working men to hold out against their corporate wealth. Without help and assistance from the government starvation will force most of these men to yield to the company's demands."

"I appeal to you and the administration at Washington in the interests of these working men and in the interests of business conditions and living wages to take appropriate action in keeping with the expressed policy of the administration to maintain wage scales."

(Signed) "Hubert H. Peavey, Rep. of 11th Wis. Dist."

Discusses Jobs

Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric company today told the delegates to the International Chamber of Commerce convention at Washington that final solution of the employment problem rests with industry.

Woman Held In Alleged Bribe Case

Kenosha —(AP)—Trapped by Racine police while, they said, she was attempting to bribe a state witness, Mrs. Anna Shileen, charged with manslaughter in the death of Mrs. Marie Larsen, 28, Racine, as the result of an alleged illegal operation, was held without bond in the county jail here today.

Mrs. Emma Brunette, taken into custody with Mrs. Shileen, was released on bond pending appearance at a material witness at the manslaughter charge hearing May 15. Authorities said she was employed by Mrs. Shileen.

Mrs. Shileen was booked on a charge of obstructing justice following alleged negotiations last night with Conrad Peterson, father of the dead woman, in which police charged she sought to bribe Peterson to give perjured testimony at the forthcoming hearing.

Police said Mrs. Shileen and Mrs. Brunette drove to Racine after making arrangements for a talk with Peterson. Detectives stationed in an adjoining room at the Peterson residence claimed they overheard conversation in which Mrs. Shileen arranged to pay $200 to Peterson in return for a statement that Mrs. Larsen was ill before going to Mrs. Shileen's establishment at Kenosha.

Eland Peterson, brother of Mrs. Larsen, was named to receive the money at the North Shore station in Racine shortly after the conference. When Mrs. Shileen and Mrs. Brunette arrived at the station they were arrested.

HUNT IN ILLINOIS FOR BANK ROBBERS

Automobile Used in Benton, Wis., Holdup Found Near Galena, Ill.

Benton, Wis. —(AP)—The search for two robbers who held up the Benton State bank and escaped with about $3,000 in cash after locking the assistant cashier in the vault today shifted to Illinois where authorities reported finding the robbers' automobile near Galena.

Robert Glasgow, a former, notified Sheriff Nicholas Ehlers of Glona that an abandoned car had been discovered on his farm. A posse headed by the sheriff and augmented by Sheriff Hinkley and deputies from LaFayette-co, Wis., went to the farm.

The automobile was identified as belonging to the robbers. Under the front seat, $75 in quarters was found. Officers also discovered three sets of license plates in the machine.

DEPUTY, FORMER COP ARE DRUNKEN DRIVERS

Oshkosh —(AP)—A Winnebago-co deputy sheriff and a former Madison policeman were arrested today on charges of giving an automobile while intoxicated.

The deputy, George Richards, whose badge was taken up when he was arrested yesterday, was said by Sheriff Arthur Nelson to have toured roadhouses, flashing his badge and waving his gun. The sheriff said Richards had been given no authority to make inspections of road-houses.

Seyvert Reque, who told Municipal Judge S. L. Spengler he resigned from the Madison police force March 28, was arrested after driving his car down the railroad tracks and smashing it.

SAYS IT ALONE CAN WORK OUT FINAL RELIEF

Wage Question Is Difficult Problem in Old World, Delegate States

Washington —(AP)—Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric company, told the International Chamber of Commerce today that the responsibility for regularization of employment rests on industry.

"The more completely regularization of employment is effected," he said, "the less necessary is it for unemployment insurance, other on the part of industry or charitable and relief measures on the part of the community."

"Therefore, the more complete regularization of employment becomes, the less in proportion is the necessity of providing for unemployment. In both instances, the cooperation and responsibility of the employee should be enlisted so that the solution for the industry may be joint as between management and employee."

Employment shared interest with wages and production problems on today's program.

Swope said "The first problem in planning steady employment was to avoid seasonal and occasional variations and, in industries where these measures are seemingly impossible, to 'ameliorate the hardships of unemployment when they arise.'"

"If industry is to assume this as its responsibility," he added, "since the employees are human and they are directly involved, they, as a part of the industry—and as a matter of fact to get the best results—should share this burden."

The speaker said the problem of regularizing employment "must be studied for each trade or industry, and in fact, in every company with its different methods of management and operation."

"The recognition that the problem exists and that it must be solved, either in part or in whole, is the beginning of the solution of the problem."

Bishop Cannon To Attend Senate Vote Fund Inquiry

Physical Condition Not Good but He Expects to Be Present, He Declares

Washington —(AP)—The senate campaign funds committee determined today to resume hearings tomorrow in its inquiry into the activities of Bishop James Cannon in the 1923 political campaign.

Washington —(AP)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., said today he expected to be present at any hearings of the senate campaign funds committee into his campaign expenditures in Virginia in 1923.

The southern Methodist churchman returned to Washington yesterday from a church meeting in Nashville, Tenn., and entered Sibley hospital.

He previously had asked postponement of the senate committee hearing set for today but the committee decided to go ahead with its inquiry and later postponed it because of illness of counsel.

"I said previously," Bishop Cannon said today, "that I did not think a matter of such importance to me as the committee hearing should take place without my presence. My physical condition is not good and I require diet and treatment that can best be obtained in a hospital. That is why I entered the hospital, but I expect to be present when the hearing takes place."

Bishop Cannon had previously challenged the authority of the committee to inquire into the disposition of the $83,000 he received from E. C. Tamm, New York capitalist, to fight Alfred E. Smith in Virginia in 1923. The committee, however, headed by Senator Nye, of North Dakota, decided it had the necessary authorization. A resolving giving it the power to inquire into violations of the federal corrupt practices act was introduced by Senator Glass,

MOTOR TROUBLE PLEA IN AIRPLANE TRAGEDY

Fond du Lac —(AP)—The defense in the manslaughter trial of Raymond A. Theiss, 49, Chicago pilot, today indicated it would plead motor trouble as the cause of the accident, which cost the lives of Miss Lillian Kelm and Mrs. Arnold Swanek at Pinceton last year.

Theiss was held on manslaughter charges after testimony at an inquest hinted he was slumping his airplane at the time of the crash.

Clarence Krueger, garage mechanic yesterday testified at the opening of the trial here, that Theiss dived his plane toward the ground and then moved upward again twice before the fatal crash. "The women were killed by the plane," he said, "when the pilot attempted to 'loop' the third time. The plane shifted downward, but first, and crashed."

The defense indicated it would show the accident occurred while Theiss was attempting to make a forced landing because of motor trouble.

IDENTIFY SUSPECT IN WALWORTH ROBBERY

Elkhorn —(AP)—Jack Munson, 24, arrested in Chicago on a tip furnished by Frank Jordan, confessed slayer of Policemen Anthony Rutly and Patrick Duglin, has been identified by John Goelzer, Walworth, as one of the robbers who obtained $8,000 in the hold-up of the Walworth State bank Feb. 12. Sheriff James Mason announced today.

Jordan has also been identified from photographs by five Walworth citizens as one of the gang, the sheriff said. Munson was taken into custody after the robbery. He is now in a Chicago apartment on suspicion of robbery of a Neponset, Ill., bank.

Identification of Munson was made yesterday by Goelzer when Deputy Sheriff Cecil Garner took several witnesses to Chicago to view the suspects. Frank Lawson, president of the Walworth bank, shown a picture of Munson, declared the suspect resembled the driver of the bandits' automobile.

MICHIGAN TAX FIGHT RENEWED BY SOLONS

Lansing, Mich. —(AP)—The Michigan legislature today witnessed the opening of a final struggle between proponents of the property tax as a major source of revenue and those favoring other financial measures.

The house ways and means committee has released to the floor the modified administration budget, advocating a low state property tax. Legislators advocating a sales tax indicated they would make an effort to revive the measure.

Tennessee Gov. W. G. Goodwin, Marietta, quoted Governor Brucker as saying that he would place specific recommendations before the legislature for solution of the states' tax problem at a special session of the body next September. Governor Brucker today declined to comment on the statement.

Slays Four, Then Takes His Own Life

Blue Mountain, Miss. —(AP)—A farmer, whose mind physicians described as affected by insane religious fervor, killed his wife, their two children, a boarder and himself in their home near here today.

Neighbors, apprehensive because no one was seen about the house this morning, investigated and found the bodies of A. W. Carter, his wife, Mrs. Nora Mattox Carter, their children, Martha, 9, and May, 8, and Miss Anne Jeffries, the boarder, lying inside the building.

A coroner's jury, decided Carter stabbed and shot the others to death and then shot himself.

Doctors told officials they had recently warned members of Carter's family of his mental condition, brought on, they said, by religious fanaticism.

FOUR MURDER CHARGES

Greely, Colo. —(AP)—Four charges of murder were prepared for filing today against James V. Foster, 43-year-old salesman alleged to have fatally injured his wife and three children in their beds early yesterday.

Assistant District Attorney E. T. Snyder, who drafted the complaints said Foster continued to maintain his innocence.

"If I did it, I must have been crazy," Snyder said Foster told him. Foster has refused to eat since his arrest yesterday.

Mrs. Foster and her three children died from burns in an incendiary fire that swept the bed room of their home. In deathbed statements, the woman and her eldest daughter, Mildred, accused Foster of starting the fire with gasoline.

BUNDESEN ACCEPTS HEALTH OFFICE JOB

Chicago —(AP)—Dr. Herman N. Fuldosen, Cook-co coroner, accepted today the appointment as health commissioner of Chicago tendered by Mayor Anton J. Cermak.

He formerly served in that office under Mayor William E. Dever, and in 1923 was elected coroner by the largest majority that had been recorded in Chicago, running ahead of the ticket of President Hoover by 100,000 votes.

After the nomination of Cermak and William Hale Thompson in the February Democratic and Republican primaries Dr. Fuldosen indicated intention to run as an independent for the majority but after several days' consideration renounced the intention, stating that he did not wish to jeopardize the election of Cermak.

POSTPONE RUSH BILL

Madison —(AP)—The senate today indefinitely postponed the Rush bill, which would have prohibited the sale of securities listed on the Boston and Chicago Stock exchanges unless the securities were approved by the state railroad commission. The vote was 20 to 12.

Previously, the house had adopted a substitute amendment, and then proceeded to kill the whole measure, which had been described by its proponents as a means of protecting Wisconsin investors.

PERRY REBUKES EDITOR FOR HIS ATTACK ON PHIL

Chapple Also Assails Chairman Mauthe of Conservation Commission

Madison —(AP)—Led by John E. Chapple, editor of the Ashland Press, who was rebuked by Speaker Charles B. Perry for charging the Progressive administration with the serious forest fire situation in northern Wisconsin, nearly 300 members of the Inter-county Association for Conservation laid a plea for relief before the assembly today.

The assembly, which took the initiative in forestry relief work after the senate refused to concur in resolutions outlining a proposed program, went into a committee as a whole to hear the plea of the north. The senate recessed for an hour to hear the discussion.

Mr. Chapple played Gov. Philip LaFollette, chairman of the conservation commission, and the "small clique of commissioners of a Wisconsin Soviet five-year plan," for neglecting northern Wisconsin. He read a lengthy paper from the rostrum, passages of which inspired Speaker Perry's rebuke.

"Does the man who happens at the moment to be governor of Wisconsin know that northern Wisconsin has been on 'fire'?" asked Chapple. "He issued an Arbor day proclamation without even referring to the millions of trees laid low within the past few years."

Mr. Mauthe, chairman of the conservation commission, and the "small clique of commissioners of a Wisconsin Soviet five-year plan, have kept members of the legislature so busy that there has hardly been time to consider the welfare of northern Wisconsin or any other part of the state."

Defends Administration

When Chapple finished speaking, Mr. Perry stated that no-one administration can be charged with the forest fire situation as it exists today, and that "we are not here to play politics."

"I hope that following speakers will talk about condition as they are rather than 'politics,'" he added. "Charges of politics will not appeal to me, nor, if I know members of this house, to the assembly."

The incident today was the second time Mr. Chapple had been at odds with Speaker Perry. Earlier in the session, he was elected from the assembly by the speaker, and later was called before a committee to answer for editorial comment in the Daily Press.

F. G. Jilip of the Nekosha-Edwards Paper Co., Ashland, defended the private owners of forest lands. He stated that the 12,000 acres owned by his company was thoroughly protected. "We spend more for fire protection than we do for taxes," he urged that insurance companies give more reasonable rates for forests so they may be made as safe from destruction as homes in a city.

"District fire rangers in our territory are only 10 per cent equipped," he said. "No district crew has a fire map with which to carry out its work. Telephonic communication between ranger stations, is poor."

"The northern counties pay 50 per cent of the expenses of forest fire suppression," E. L. Daniels, Iron River, said, "and yet when we offer financial aid to the conservation department, we are treated with indifference."

Wants Dams at Culverts

L. E. Dillon, Ashland, county highway commissioner, urged that dams be provided at culverts in state highways to facilitate fire-fighting, and that E. B. Foot, Tipler, one of the survivors of the recent fire swept out his village, described the hardships encouraged. He said fire wardens did not cooperate with the town, refusing to move equipment from brush areas into the burning town.

"More money and better men," was suggested by R. G. Flanders, Oconto, as a watchword for the conservation commission. He pointed out that "when the state hires men at $1,350 as district fire wardens it is taking money not worthy of the job."

POSTPONE RUSH BILL

Madison —(AP)—The senate today indefinitely postponed the Rush bill, which would have prohibited the sale of securities listed on the Boston and Chicago Stock exchanges unless the securities were approved by the state railroad commission. The vote was 20 to 12.

YOUTH STEPS FROM CAR AND KILLS OFFICER

Suspect Wanted in Slaying of Dance Hall Hostess and in Abduction

New York —(AP)—One hundred Nassau-co police were ordered out today to hunt for Helen Walsh, 16-year-old Brooklyn girl who accompanied Francis Crowley on the automobile ride in which Patrolman Frederick Hirsch was shot and killed last night. She is believed to have been murdered.

New York —(AP)—A slender young man stepped out of a car parked in a lane at North Merrick, L. I., early today and shot and killed Patrolman Frederick Hirsch as the policeman, who had remanded to see his license, exclaimed:

"You're Francis Crowley!" He then leaped back into the car, with a girl whom he had kidnapped from her escort an hour before, and sped away as Hirsch's companion, a rookie cop, emptied his .38-caliber revolver after him.

Crowley is wanted in connection with the slaying of Virginia Brannan, a dance hall hostess from Bangor, Me.

The shooting of Patrolman Hirsch brought out a large detail of police detectives and volunteers, and one of the first persons they rounded up was John McCahill, who was hunting for a young woman who, he said, had been kidnapped from him.

At the police station he identified Crowley from photographs, as the kidnaper. The girl is 17. Police with Hirsch here because they feared Crowley might kill her to avoid recognition.

Hirsch was just going off duty, when a call came to his booth that a truck pulled high with tires, believed to have been stolen, was seen speeding through North Merrick. Hirsch, who had been a policeman four years, offered to accompany the man who was to deliver him. Patrolman Peter Yodis, a rookie, followed.

In a lane in the outskirts of the village Hirsch saw a small roadster parked in the shadows, with the lights out. While Yodis brought the police car to a halt, Hirsch called out:

A slight young man climbed out. Yodis saw a girl sitting inside.

"Hey, you're Francis Crowley," Yodis said Hirsch exclaimed. "Take off your hat!"

The man made a gesture, Yodis said, as if to take off his hat and suddenly reached inside his coat, pulled out a revolver, and emptied it into Hirsch. Yodis said he could see the man's face plainly, and he too recognized him as Crowley.

START EXCAVATION FOR NEW FILLING STATION

Workers began excavating Wednesday morning for the Buth Oil company filling station, to be erected at the corner of Franklin and Onondaga. The Hegner Construction company, awarded the general contract, expects to employ about 10 men. The station will be completed by June 24.

Heating, plumbing and electric wiring contracts will be awarded the end of this week, as will the contract for the warehouse.

The new filling and service station, designed by LaVee and Gmeiner, architects and engineers, will be of Mediterranean style architecture.

WOMAN BURNED WHEN GAS STOVE EXPLODES

Mrs. Ray Retzlaff, route 4, Appleton, was badly burned about the arms about noon yesterday when a gasoline stove, which she was cleaning, exploded. Flaming gasoline was thrown about the kitchen. Mrs. Retzlaff's clothing was set afire, but she managed to get out of the flames. Her husband succeeded in putting out the flames which started burning the kitchen floor. Mrs. Retzlaff was taken to an Appleton doctor for treatment.

Last fall Mrs. Retzlaff suffered severe burns about the feet when she was cleaning meat and one of the jars exploded.

ASSESSORS TO USE PROPERTY OWNERS' OWN VALUATIONS

Two Rivers —(AP)—This idea of real estate owners boosting valuation on their own lands when they knew the property was likely to be condemned for construction work today appeared likely to become a boomerang.

Several property owners in the Hamilton community where the government contemplates constructing a $200,000 postoffice had notice from assessment officers that their valuations given when they offered to sell the land, likely would be used for tax assessments.

Death Rate For Infants Less In City

Appleton stands second in the group of 11 Wisconsin cities with a population exceeding 20,000 that show an infant mortality rate for 1930 lower than that of 1929, according to a survey from the vital statistics bureau of the state board of health.

Appleton has a rate of 38.3 deaths per 1,000 births last year, as compared with the statewide rate of 55.7. Following the Appleton rate is the low score of 38.7 deaths of children under one year of age established by Fond du Lac, third in the list.

Milwaukee, with 11,006 live births recorded in 1930, suffered 672 infant deaths to establish a death rate of 57.9, two points higher than the statewide rate but 18 points lower than her own 1929 rate.

Other cities in the group lowered their rates as follows: Racine, 43.9 for 1930 as compared with 54.1 in 1929; West Allis, 44.9 in 1930, 71.3 in 1929; Madison, 46 in 1930, 47.7 in 1929; Janesville, 50.2 in 1930, 56.9 in 1929; Manitowish, 52.7 in 1930, 54.1 in 1929; Sheboygan, 60.7 in 1930, 66.2 in 1929; and Superior, 64.8 in 1930 as compared with 68.2 in 1929.

Cities of the group showing an increased infant death rate in the two-year comparison are Kenosha with a rate of 49 in 1930 and 45.5 in 1929; Oshkosh, 54.5 in 1930, 48.1 in 1929; La Crosse, 56.5 in 1930, 57.8 in 1929; Wausau, 57.8 in 1930, 52.7 in 1929; Eau Claire, 59.8 in 1930, 57.5 in 1929, and DeSoto, 72.7 in 1930 as compared with 69.2 in 1929.

COUNCIL FACES ROUTINE MEETING

Plans for Storm Sewer on Verbrick-st Will Be Presented

Unless some subject with good possibilities for argument bobs up, the council meeting tonight will run along the smooth path of routine business—sidewalks, sewers, ordinances, bids and committee reports.

BEGIN CONSTRUCTION ON RIVER-DR RESIDENCE

Work on the new residence of Charles Hopfensperger, to be built on River-dr, one of the new residential sections of Appleton overlooking the Fox river, started Wednesday morning. The building will be ready for occupancy about Sept. 15.

The new home will be of modern Tudor English design with two exterior bays and a large exterior sun parlor. There will be 20 rooms and a three-car garage.

The general contract was awarded Wednesday to Harvey Everts, who expects to employ a dozen men to assist in the work. The house was designed by LaVee and Gmeiner, architects and engineers.

Clara Bow's Dad Aids Her

Robert Bow, left, father of film actress Clara Bow, is shown with Police Captain Stensland as he identified rogues' gallery pictures of Guy L. Rockwell, former federal convict, as one of two men who approached him and Rex Bell with a proposition to "buy" a newly founded Hollywood "newspaper" which printed articles attacking Miss Bow, deputies claim. Fred Girmau, editor of the paper, was arrested.

Here Is A Way To Make Policemen Shed Tears

Several Appleton police officers appeared to have turned tender-hearted this morning as they stood in the street outside the police station with tears streaming down their cheeks. Red eyes and frequent use of handkerchiefs convinced passersby that the police must have handled a pathetic case to cause such profuse tears.

In the group was Police Chief George T. Prim, Sergeant Herb Knapp, and Officer Carl Radtke. A few minutes later Sergeant Mathew McGinnis came along, entered the station, but reappeared in great haste. Tears also were streaming down his face, and a large handkerchief was clasped in his hands.

Next door, in the fire department, the firemen could be noticed dabbling at their faces as a frequent tear trickled down their cheeks. They attributed the smarting and watering of their eyes to escaping smoke from the furnace, but investigation proved the furnace was not smoking.

Then the secret was revealed. Officer Radtke had accidentally touched off a tear-gas bomb! Its fumes filled the police department, trickled through the walls to the fire department, and caused no end of bother and inconvenience while the officers waited for the air to clear.

The bomb was an old one which had been at the police station for about five years. Beyond the shedding of copious tears and the inconvenience of having to stand outside for more than half an hour, there was no damage.

U. S. EMPLOYEES SET OUT BUOYS, BEACONS

Spar buoys and lighted beacons are being placed in the Fox river and Lake Winnebago this week by employees of the government engineering department, according to Nelson Wrightman, government engineer. Approximately 50 buoys and beacons will be installed on the river between Green Bay and Portage and on Lake Winnebago.

Wednesday evening Mr. Clark will show the pictures at a parents' night meeting of Troops 21, 23 and 24 at Clintonville. Thursday and Friday evenings the pictures are to be shown at Marion and Brillion.

PERMISSION GRANTED TO CONSTRUCT GARAGE

Permission to build a one-car garage at 409 N. Bennett-st. was granted George Barry at a meeting of the board of appeals at city hall Monday. The proposed building interferes with the sidewalk ordinance.

A special meeting of the board of appeals will be held at 1 o'clock Saturday, May 16, to consider the petition of Mark F. Furstenberg, 121 N. Mead-st, to build a garage.

FREAK ROBIN BACK AMONG OLD HAUNTS AROUND FIRST WARD

The freak robin with the wide white color and white patches on its wings has returned to its old stamping ground on the corner of Lawe and Alton-sts. The bird, which caused considerable attention among First Ward residents last year, is slightly larger than the average robin, and has a darker head. It mingles with the other robins, and its habits are quite the same as the birds of its species.

- Is the refrigerator manufactured by a reliable company with proper experience in the electric refrigeration field?
- Has it plenty of food and shelf space?
- Is the cabinet itself well designed, sturdily built and properly insulated?
- Is there provision for the freezing of an adequate supply of ice cubes? (Quantity of ice rather than number of cubes, which may be of large or small size, should be taken into consideration.)
- Will the refrigerator constantly maintain a proper temperature for the preservation of foods?
- Can the freezing of ice cubes and

- Can this extra freezing speed for ice cubes be had without affecting the temperature on the food shelves? (Too low a temperature on the shelves will, of course, injure food.)
- Is there a place to keep ice cream, meat, fish, game, "quick frozen" foods or extra ice cubes indefinitely at a below freezing temperature?

- Does the refrigerating unit operate often or infrequently? (The fewer "stops" and "starts" the longer the unit will last and the less it costs to run.)
- How long will the cooling unit continue to cool the refrigerator, even though the current is shut off? (Refrigeration should continue for 10 or 12 hours.)

- Has provision been made for keeping vegetables fresh and crisp?
- Can the refrigerator top be used to "set things down for a moment" while the contents of the cabinet are being rearranged?
- Will the refrigerator add to the attractiveness of the kitchen?

COUNTY WILL BE REPRESENTED AT EDUCATION MEET

Oshkosh Teachers College to Be Host at Three-day Event

Outagamie county rural school teachers are advised by A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, to attend some of the sessions of a three-day program devoted to development of rural education. Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the State Teachers' college at Oshkosh, Mr. Meating, with Miss Nellie McDermott and A. L. Collar, supervising teacher, will attend some of the sessions.

The events have been arranged by Miss Mary L. Stewart, head of the department of rural education at the local college.

Thursday, May 7, will be "rural education" day. A conference to be attended by heads of rural education departments of all teachers colleges in the state will be held in the morning.

The conference of department heads is a new project in the state. No such meetings have been held before, except when the rural education leaders assembled in group convocations at the regular state teachers' college convention at Madison, every second year.

Friday, May 8, will be "county normal" day. At that time, the college here will host to about 200 visitors, members of the faculties of several county normal schools and members of the graduating classes of those institutions.

Give Accurate Picture. The purpose of county normal day, it is explained, is to present an accurate picture of the needs of rural education to those who are preparing to enter the field, and especially to encourage more extensive training and preparation.

Saturday, May 9, will be "rural progress" day. The event, which was successful in 1930, is in the nature of a field day for all the rural schools of the Fox river valley region. More than 35 school groups, composed of teachers and pupils, took part in the outing here a year ago.

The Saturday program, which is principally for the rural school children, is a picnic, with games, field and contests. There will be displays of academic work, competition there being limited to the best materials that each school district has been able to produce.

The discussion topic for Thursday, when the county normal session here, will be "Training Program for Preparing Rural Teachers to Meet the Present Situation."

B. G. Doudna, secretary of the board of regents; Pres. Frank E. Baker, Milwaukee; Miss Bertha L. Carter, Superior; O. W. Neale, Stevens Point; Miss Maybell G. Bush, Madison; O. H. Plenzke, of the state department and others are to be leaders in the discussion.

More than 300 visitors are expected here Friday, the county normal day. County normals to be represented are: Algoma, Berlin, Columbus, Fond du Lac, Kaukauna, Manitowish, Mayville, Sheboygan, Falls and Wautoma.

Training routine will be devoted to visiting classes at Oshkosh State Teachers' college, following by separate group meetings for the county normal students and the faculty. The students will attend an illustrated lecture, prepared by J. O. Frank.

For Faculty Guests

Faculty guests will be assembled for another program of discussion of vital problems. H. C. Dornbush, Sheboygan Falls, will talk on the topic, "What Is the Best Policy to Follow in Cases of Transfer, Students Withdrawn or Discontinued From Other Schools?"

"How Can We Best Cooperate in Working Toward Consolidation of Rural Schools in Wisconsin?" will be the subject discussed at the meeting by E. L. Mendelhall, Fond du Lac. E. J. Fitzpatrick, Wautoma will speak on "How Can We Best Cooperate in Our Efforts to Retain Strong Leaders in Rural Areas?"

The Friday visitors will inspect the model training school at Nord.

Sherwood Dog Awarded Plaque For Saving Life

Sherwood—"Laddy Boy" Belgian police dog owned by Miss Mary Bruhl, has won a silver plaque for heroism. This is why:

On the night of Feb. 9, Miss Bruhl was awakened at about 2:30 in the morning by his barking and whining. When he heard his mistress move, he dashed to the road where he repeated his barking, running back to her window scratching the panes in an effort to tell her that something was wrong. She dressed quickly and went to the front part of the house from which she could get a clear view of the road by the light of the moon. There she saw the figure of a man lying in the middle of the road, face down. She called to her brother, Nick Bruhl, who slept on the second story of the house. As he came down, Laddy Boy seized the prostrate figure by the clothing at the nape of his neck dragging him from the road and bringing him toward the house. Mr. Bruhl carried the unconscious man, who was nearly frozen, into the house. Laddy was jubilant when the man was brought in, licking his hands and face. The man was an intoxicated beet weeder. Evidently, while in a stupor he fell into the road, and would have frozen to death if it had not been for Laddy Boy's alertness.

Miss Bruhl has been semi-invalid for many years and has taken a great interest in training the various dogs she has had. Laddy Boy has been taught to carry baskets of wood, pails and dishes. He brings her cane or crutches always handling them right side up. To carry a heavy scudde of coal to his mistress is one of the chores he loves to perform.

helm, which is in charge of Mrs. G. Murphy, principal and Miss Doris Jones, Mrs. Ella Montgomery and Miss Lillian Kelley. The pupils of the school will present a special May program.

Inspection of the teachers college training school, in the afternoon, will be directed by Miss Laura M. Johnston. There will be demonstration of class room teaching. There will be a stunt hour at which time each visiting school may present some feature.

Interesting Exhibits. Saturday's exhibits of rural school work are expected to be interesting. In each type of work, there may be only two from each grade from each county, selected by the county superintendent of his assistants as the best work of its kind in rural schools.

All exhibit material must be selected from the present year's work in the schools. All displays will be mounted, and identified, just the same as when similar material is prepared for exhibit at the county fair. The most meritorious work of each type will be awarded a blue ribbon in recognition of merit. No prizes in money will be given.

There will be displays in art work, in may making, posters, soap carrying, rope splicing and bird houses.

Anniversary Sale of the Home-Stors, continues all week.

MAY 15 LAST DAY TO REGISTER FOR WASHINGTON TRIP

Rural school graduates, teachers and parents who are planning to accompany the Outagamie county educational pilgrimage to Washington, D. C., are asked by A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools and sponsor of the trip, to make a registration with him on or before May 15. This registration, Mr. Meating pointed out, need be merely a letter or post card stating the intentions of the person to go on the trip. It is necessary that an accurate estimate of the number of Outagamie county people who will make the trip be available sometime before the trip starts. Mr. Meating said. The trip to Washington will start from Appleton on the morning of May 24. The tourists will return Wednesday evening, May 27.

HOOVER OFFERS NO FORMULA TO END TRADE ILLS

Delegates to World Meeting Expected Concrete Plan
from President

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1931, By Post Pub. Co.
Washington—(CFA)—Delegates to the International Chamber of Commerce from all over the world who had expected President Hoover to present a concrete formula to cure the world-wide depression were disappointed in the speech of the chief executive.

The president avoided any proposal with reference to the economic situation, the tariff, or war debts and contained himself entirely to the problem of the reduction of armaments. While all the delegates are inclined to agree that disarmament is of paramount consideration, they do not think all the ills of the present crisis can be traced to political instability or even excessive taxation.

Most all the delegates here are practical minded businessmen, interested in diplomacy and world politics only as it may contribute to economic stability. They had hoped that Mr. Hoover would strike a note of leadership looking toward a revival of world trade. There is no doubt that the president was just as fully aware as were the delegates of the kind of speech the latter would have liked to hear, but unfortunately there is not any agreement or consensus within the United States on what should be the foreign economic policy of this country. Mr. Hoover therefore could not very well have delivered a speech that would have drawn the fire of his critics at a moment when the business depression has developed such a disparity of views between the White House and the business world.

To a certain extent the address of Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the board of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, reflected the view of Mr. Hoover. While they are close friends, Mr. Barnes does not always speak for the president. In this instance, however, it is not inconceivable that the Barnes address was known to the White House and that it represented concretely the attitude of the president toward world problems.

Avoided Harsh Attacks
Just now Senator Watson of Indiana has criticized the Barnes speech severely, so it is apparent what Mr.
Hoover would have had in store if he had adopted the same course, namely, analyzing the causes of the world economic situation too minutely.

Disarmament was a safe topic for discussion so far as domestic politics is concerned and, of course, the American government has been anxious to do something about it with foreign governments by crystallizing the public opinion of the world. Undoubtedly the Hoover speech will have its effect abroad and will contribute to the discussion going on now as to future international conferences and their scope.

The delegates are intensely interested in the American point of view on the economic situation of the world. They ask many questions.

They talk frankly about their own problems. But they still look to the richest and most powerful country in the world for leadership and that is why the attendance from more than thirty countries is so large.
This week's sessions will have the effect of diffusing the American viewpoint throughout the world but, regrettably, there is no such thing as an American viewpoint yet as to what the world ought to do about the economic ill health that is sapping its productive power and comsuming its vitality.

EXCHANGE FROWNS ON OPERATIVES WHO SELL SHORT

Possibility of Losing More Money Than by Buying is Seen

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES
(Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press)
New York—Still dealing with the technique of short selling in the speculative markets and especially in stocks, it is easy to understand why the number of speculators willing to sell before they buy is smaller than the number willing to buy before they sell.

If, for instance, a trader buys 100 shares of stock at $100 a share the most he can possibly lose is $10,000.
That would be the loss if the stock went to zero. If, on the other hand, he should sell short 100 shares of stock at $100 a share, theoretically at least there is no limit to the amount of possible loss. If the stock went up 100 points he would lose $10,000, if it went up 200 points he would lose $20,000, and so on.

Of course losses like these are never seen, because a commitment is retired long before it has gone against the trader in any such amount but it is a fact that short sellers as a rule are more nervous when the market goes against them than are those who operate on the other side. For this reason we often see sudden and sharp recoveries in declining markets brought about by the discovery on the part of the shorts that they have too much company and that it is no longer easy to borrow shares for delivery.

There is also in the back of the mind of every "short" trader the fear of corners. The Stock Exchange frowns on corners and they are supposed not to happen, but there are cases on record of the floating supply of a particular stock having practically disappeared with the result that the shorts were forced to pay exorbitant prices to close out their trade. It should be observed that these conditions come into being without any regard to the merit of the stock in question or to the reasonableness of its market price.

The justification for short selling is that a potential demand is created which serves to modify extreme declines. When no one else is willing to buy, it is the shorts who fill in the gap. At least that is the theory.

It is so widely accepted in Wall Street that the existence of a large short interest in the market is regarded as a point in its favor.

CHINA'S NATIONAL CONVENTION

Events in China give promise to substantial progress towards a national government which will eventually bring order out of chaos, and peace instead of the continual strife of civil wars.

This week is being held at Nanking a national convention for the purpose of creating a constitution for the country. The fundamentals of this constitution have already been determined by the Kuomintang, or Nationalist party, headed by President Chiang Kai-shek at Nanking, which has established itself, by force of arms and smart politics, as the dominant political factor in China.

Of great importance to the success of President Chiang Kai-shek and the Kuomintang has been the alliance established with Chang Hsueh-liang, war lord of Mukden in succession to his father, the famous Chang Tso-lin. This man is installed at Peiping and controls several provinces of north China. He has formally recognized the Nanking government as the national government of China.

South China, with headquarters at Canton, is still in revolt against the central government. Five provinces are in secession and are offering the challenge of a civil war, but the government is disposed to disregard them until time shall have demonstrated the errors of their way.

The congress meeting this week will have the character of a constitutional convention. Delegates are present from far-flung provinces and the convention hall, decorated with flags and bunting has all the characteristics of an American party convention.

The proposed governmental organization will consist of the three usual branches, legislative, executive and judicial, to which have been added the departments of examinations and of control. All five branches are administered by councils, each under a president, with the executive council as the supreme organ of government. There will be no president of China, but merely a president of the executive council.

Until the present time the Kuomintang or Nationalist party under General Chiang Kai-shek has been exercising dictatorial powers. It has been necessary to do this to make any progress. It has also succeeded in preventing the infiltration of communism to any serious degree.

If the new constitution can be promulgated and accepted by most of the north and central provinces of China in a spirit of mutual cooperation, it will promise much for the future progress of the country. This constitutional convention may prove to be one of the great events of oriental history, and its political significance is of world interest.

THE EMPIRE STATE BUILDING

The formal dedication of the Empire State building in New York City marks a still nearer approach to the clouds. Rising 85 stories above the surface it outranks the Chrysler building finished less than a year ago by eight stories, and because of its pinnacle, extends 204 feet higher.

Such a building is monumental in other things than size and extent. It is a monument to the engineering ability of America, for it has been constructed absolutely vertical with a variation of but five-eighths of an inch and its enormous load so carefully and exactly distributed that "the weight on any given square inch was no greater than that normally borne by a French heel."

The cost of $52,000,000 will give some indication of the necessity of filling the structure with thousands of people in order to pay a rent that can be a reasonable income upon such a great sum of money.

Press dispatches say that "realty men agree that office skyscrapers of day have approached the limit of economic practicability in height." Let us hope this is true.

But the same men have been repeating that same statement for the last generation.

THE INTERNATIONAL SUGAR AGREEMENT

The world depression has been of such a character and created such portentous problems that more than ever before it disclosed that the satisfactory adjustment of many of its problems can be solved only by international cooperation. International conferences on banking and the gold reserves, parleys on silver, attempts to control the production and marketing of tin, rubber and wheat are being discussed in the news of the day.

That the international control of the production and marketing of a staple world commodity may be possible, is evidenced by the progress already made by the sugar producing countries to stabilize the market for that commodity.

Since last December under the leadership of Cuban and American interests, negotiations have been under way to devise a plan by which sugar exports would be allocated among the producing and exporting nations. A basic price is established at which sugar can be produced at a profit, and no sugar is to be exported by the countries entering the agreement above the amount allocated to them except as the price of sugar goes above the base price. Any amount of sugar produced to excess must be absorbed in the domestic market as long as the price remains the base or lower.

It has been a difficult problem to obtain any sort of an agreement, but objections of all kinds apparently have been overcome and it appears now that the plan may be successfully worked out for the first time in history.

The seven countries which have practically come to an agreement are Cuba, Java, Czechoslovakia, Germany, Poland, Hungary and Belgium. These countries normally produce 45 per cent of the world output. Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippines account for another 5 per cent. The balance of 50 per cent is consumed where produced, so that it has no real effect on the export market.

For the past five years production of sugar has exceeded consumption due to wartime expansion, improved methods of refining and the substitution of machines for manual labor. In the ordinary course of economic development the law of supply and demand would eventually equalize production and consumption by the destruction of the most costly operation. But sugar producers are of the opinion that man's ingenuity may control the functioning of this economic law so that the destructive effects of its normal operation may be mitigated.

If the agreement proves a successful solution of a distressing problem as indications point, it will serve as a great landmark. It will force the consideration of other commodities which have also been seriously affected by overproduction and unlimited competition.

But an agreement of this sort can be successful only if international. It must be subscribed to and supported in toto by all essential producers and exporters. There are no Sherman anti-trust laws which could affect the international phase of the sugar agreement. The number of countries involved is limited so the plan may work.

Opinions Of Others

BY THE GRACE OF CAPONE

No such convincing testimony as to the power wielded in Chicago by Al Capone, at least under a former superintendent of police, previously has been brought to the attention of the public as that given by Frank J. Loesch, president of the Chicago Crime Commission, in an address before the Southern California Academy of Criminology, an interview which he had with Capone previous to the November election of 1928, when he received the gang leader's promise to permit a fair election to be held in Chicago and Cook county—a promise scrupulously kept.

When urged by Mr. Loesch to call off his gunners and his pollsters of ballot boxes Capone did not attempt to deny the issue. He promised to give available orders to his followers and to instruct the police department to deal effectively with gangsters not under his control. Thanks to Capone's instructions, to all outward appearances implicitly obeyed by the police, the election, in which Mr. Loesch took a deep interest, proved to be orderly and honest. It resulted in a radical reorganization of the state's attorney's office and of other wholesome changes.

The modern gang boss or vice lord occasionally is led by amiability or caprice to make concessions to decency. But what a commentary it is on politics and government in an American city that a leader in lawless activities should exercise control over the authorities commissioned by the supposedly sovereign citizens to prevent and punish violations of law!

A city ruled by Capone suffers ignominy indeed.—Chicago Daily News.

EVOLUTION OF THE FLAPPER

The flapper of yesterday worried her mother. And worried her grandma and worried her brother.

Her dress was outrageous; her conduct seemed bold; She was the constant despair of the old, And they oft sat together and grown-ups will do To wonder, "What's that child's coming to!"

Today as I strolled on a bygone street This young woman in question I happened to meet.

She was pushing a little pink carriage wherein A baby was nestled tucked up to the chin, And she lifted a blanket and gave me a peep At the cute little rascal that lay there asleep.

She urged me to look at his dear little nose; She forced me to gaze on his fingers and toes; She, talked of his feedings, and pinching his cheek

She boasted the pound he gained in a week, And she said in the way that all mothers do: "He never gets cross and he sleeps the night through!"

I thought as I left her, the frivolous day Like everything else comes and hurries away. The oldsters may think that the world's gone to pot;

That the virtues they've preached are wiped out, But they're not. For the best of our customs and manners survive And they'll get old-fashioned when babies arrive.

Have You Noticed How Much Greater the "Hazards" Are at This Time of Year?

Personal Health Talks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
 Noted Physician and Author

STUDENTS WILL HAVE THEIR FLING

Our Pennsylvania reader contributes today's best letter:

My family and I have been students of your daily course in how to keep well since we moved to this state, eleven years ago. I miss only a few lessons when I am travelling, and believe me, I do miss them.

I took my share of regulating pills in my time, but since I was 49—I am now 54. You have in fact taught our whole family how to get along without habitual resort to physic.

Some other valuable lessons I have learned from you are how to relax and go to sleep at bed time, how to eat and enjoy whatever wholesome food is placed before one without picking or fretting about digestibility, and how to discard superfluous clothing to the benefit of general health and comfort.

And I want to tell you that you are the only doctor in the business of teaching the public how to keep well who knows how to make his medicine pleasant to take. Even if one did not learn a thing from reading your column in my fact, but only time I am thankful and fun from it any way. I credit you for my record.

I am the only one in an organization of several hundred persons who have not missed a day on account of sickness in the past five years.

But you are a great disappointment in one way: you never promise to cure anybody.

I could wish you would cure one bad habit that has me. I seem unable to do any work or solve any problem without a pipe in my mouth. For only time I am happy without it. When I am eating or sleeping, I have been at it for thirty years. I often wish I could shake off the habit or at least get control of it without the risk of firing my boss for whom I have high regard . . .

I know it is a hard thing to regain control of the habit after you've truckled to it for so many years, but by coming back in easy stages—why, it's just like paying for the piano a dollar down and a dollar a week forever.

I suggest that you make a beginning by denying yourself the pipe before lunch. That is, let your first smoke be saved until after mid-day lunch. If you don't take a mid-day lunch—as many sedentary middle-aged folk should not—then you are in great luck, for you will have to wait till after dinner in the evening for your first smoke.

I have tried it all ways and I know whereof I speak when I say that the guy who saves his smoking until the day's work or play or loaf is over derives the greatest enjoyment from it, and at the same time he takes the best care of his health. It is really rather difficult for a smoker to make a hog of himself or to indulge excessively if he confines his smoking to the hours of leisure or relaxation. It is very difficult for one to keep control of the habit, to be temperate, if he combines his smoking with his work, play or business.

If you want to try to break the habit, I'll be glad to send you special instructions by mail. In asking for the sure to send you are the smoker for impersonal use. Enclose a stamped envelope bearing your address. Seems silly to have to say this so much, but whenever we omit to specify it a lot of Scotchmen and Connecticut Yankees demand that we pay the freight.

Not a word today, children, about the pathological effects of excessive smoking. There are plenty, however. This is rather a plea to smokers for moderation, temperance, keeping control of the habit. Reserve indulgence till your day's work is done and the habit will never get you.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Caesarian Section

Most of your articles are fine and we agree with them, but one one thing you are dead wrong and that is about the good old family physician for confinement cases. I know, for had two babies and both died of hemorrhages. Our family doctor had everything wrong with me but the right thing. It didn't take a specialist long to find out what the trouble was. He found I had contracted pelvic My third baby was born by Caesarian section, and is alive and well. The baby was born in a hospital too. The specialist didn't charge much more than the family doctor did. I fear some of our fine old family doctors get into a rut and assume they know enough without any further study. (Mrs. E. W.)

Answer.—Exception allowed. I hold no brief for family doctors. Nor am I opposed to honest specialists.

A Guide To Right Eating.

I have been on your duodenal ulcer diet for five months. I have gained 10 pounds and am feeling fine. If I can have a change of diet now it may be a relief, but I don't want to take any chances of recurrence of the trouble. . . (M. S.)

Answer.—I should not advise you to remain five months on any diet. Perhaps you need some general information about right eating. Send 10 cents and a stamped envelope bearing your address for "Guide to Right Eating."

Undulant Fever.

What is the duration of the sickness called undulant fever? Is the pasteurization of milk supposed to kill the germ of this disease as well as the germ of tuberculosis? (Mrs. M. B. H.)

Answer.—Undulant fever, also called Malta fever, Texas fever, and various other names, has no characteristic course, but is usually an illness which keeps the patient up and down for three months. Pasteurization, if properly done, is sufficient heat to kill the germ.

Tobacco Eating.

Our son aged 26 years has recently acquired the filthy habit of chewing plug tobacco. He claims it is necessary, as his trade is a very dusty one. He does not expectorate, but swallows the juices, which he claims is not injurious. His mother and I think it is. We should like your opinion. (B. E. C.)

Answer.—I can't see what the tobacco chewing has to do with dust. Of course if the young man swallows the juice he gets a more concentrated dose of tobacco. Anybody who chews or smokes during working hours is an excessive user of tobacco and excess is pretty certain to impair health.

The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran

"DRESSED in our little Chinese clothes," said happy Scouty, "goodness knows we ought to find some native lads to play with for a while. We look as nice as nice can be and we'll be welcome, seems to me. Our faces may give us away, but that will bring a smile."

And so they sauntered down the street, all hoping that they'd short by means of some Chinese lads. And then they did and Clowny cried, "Hello! We'd like to stop and play with you. We'll do whatever you tell us to join in any game of yours that maybe we don't know."

One little lad spoke English well. He answered, "Say, that will be swell. Let's have a game of tag right now. We'll teach you how to play." "Ha, ha!" laughed Clowny. "We all know how that game's played. Come on, let's go! I'm 'it, all the rest of you, had best run on your way."

They played and played, and my 'twas fun! Then, with the sinking of the sun, the Travel Man cried, "Come, you lads, it's time to head for bed." They bid their little friends goodby and Clowny, with a drowsy sigh, said, "Gee, but sleep sounds good to me. I am a slumber head."

Next morning Mister Travel Man said, "Rush as quickly as you can

Roadhouses

Editor Post-Crescent—I note with interest, the article published in the Thursday, Post-Crescent, with the title, Strict Enforcement of Ordinance Concerning Country Halls, and Country Dances.

All dances in the county must be staged in licensed halls, meaning that school, or barn dances, etc., cannot be held, unless those places have been licensed, and that violation of this ordinance means prosecution.

It is entirely beneath a sane understanding, why any roadhouse should be allowed to operate within the limits of our Rural district. It would appear that a roadhouse is for the purpose of giving a certain element of right that does not exist in the city. It leads the young people astray, and the license should never be given, for instead of giving strength to the prohibition movement, such places are great in advertising against the government that one person is in trouble for protection, if a person is in trouble, look for legal relief. I have no sympathy for any person that intentionally disobeys the law. It still farther appears that no country dance shall be allowed unless a license has been granted. This reflects back to the original topic.

As a free thinker, and free to act concerning my own affairs, were I a musician, and living on a farm, and I saw fit to assemble my neighbors for the purpose of shaking the light fantastic toe, would I be expected to run to the city and deposit a five dollar note in order to entertain my guests?

I suppose the next move will be to demand a license in order to play in a game of cards. Yes, I am an advocate of carrying on with a privileged free hand, but the time may not be far in the distant when I may be called upon to take out a license. General conditions are not pleasing to any one, and it may appear that the country as a whole, is being developed, bedecked, and bedarned, and no relief in sight for the future. Some of our most apprehensive people are now wondering what the next change will bring forth.

There is an almost untold amount of recreation. There are theatres, shows, clubs, societies, games, etc. There are also splendid roadways that afford quick, and easy access, and by all that is just and pure, why not out these everlasting demon-alizing places that are a disgrace to the community and get back to sane reasoning, and understanding.

Superintendent's Service

Editor Post-Crescent—In regard to this county superintendent, and his so-called duties. If, as stated, the annual report of county schools is one of the duties we tax payers are compensating him for, why is his fee of a hundred and ten dollars for same allowed by county board? Those who understand that the amount allowed this superintendent for salary plus his monthly "expenses" whatever they may be they are not itemized, plus several hundred dollars for clerical works, plus much else in money, have a perfect right to examine services in accordance with many thousands of dollars the county is taxed and asked for such services. Who pays for clerical work in connection with these trips he works out? Who gets the compensation for

The craft they soon were on was strange. "You sure were thoughtful to arrange a ride on such a boat as this," said Coppy, with a grin. "I'm looking forward to this trip. I hope the boat won't die and dip." And then they heard the owner of the boat exclaim, "Hop in!"

Today's Anniversary

JOFFRE AT ST. LOUIS

On May 6, 1917, the French government delegates to the United States were welcomed in St. Louis after an enthusiastic reception in Chicago. More than 20,000 persons crowded into the Coliseum in St. Louis to welcome the visitors, and as many more stood outside—unable to obtain admission.

From St. Louis the commission proceeded to Kansas City where they were received with great enthusiasm. They returned to the east stopping off at Springfield, Ill., where Marshal Joffre placed a wreath on Lincoln's tomb.

At Philadelphia the French guests were royally entertained. Visiting Independence Hall, General Joffre was presented a marshal's baton made from a piece of one of the Independence Hall rafters. At this same hall ex-Premier Viviani said:

"We do not feel in America as if we were far from home. The ideals and aims of America and of France are the same. It was in this hall that freedom was first breathed from the mouths of men for the inspiration of every nation."

getting these people together and all the details connected therewith? To whom does the title of the county superintendent belong? Who has the original claim? Who pays first for his services? Another thing we are wondering about. Teachers are given an advanced course in music in the county normals, supposed to pass examinations in same before getting certificate enabling them to teach in rural schools. Along comes the idea of paying music supervisors for a half hour's time each week to instruct our pupils in music. Those of us who have visited these periods know how little is being taught of music. Why, what is done with the eighty dollars paid for services? What becomes of that money? Where does it go? Why should there be two supervisors with their attendant "expenses" in this county? Much has been written but there hasn't been much said about the eighty dollars paid for services. The people who have been paying should call a halt somewhere. This spending somebody else's money should be done in a way which brings satisfaction and results. If our public servants are not satisfied with the compensation received from this county and are not willing to give in return and are not willing to give in return accordingly, there are plenty of both men and women capable, efficient, intellectual, and willing to serve who will come forward.

DRYS BELIEVE PROHIBITION IS NATIONAL ISSUE

Anti-wet Forces Begin to Mobilize for Fight in 1932

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON
Copyright 1931 by Cons. Press
New York—(CPA)—Leaders of the national prohibition movement today announced their belief that prohibition is at last a national issue—a statement contrary to the views of many of its spokesmen in the past—and begin mobilization of their forces for the 1932 campaign.

"The Allied Forces" will be the flying wedge of the new militant dry organization, which will get into full swing in September and continue through the national conventions of next year. The crusading army, for whose leadership eminent prohibitionists throughout the country have been recruited, will conduct evangelical and educational campaigns in from 200 to 300 cities throughout the country, most of the work, in fact, being concentrated in the cities, as it is believed the rural districts are fairly safe for the eighth amendment.

The Rev. Daniel A. Poling, editor of the Christian Herald, has been active in launching the new movement.

Mabel to Help
Enrolled with the allied forces will be Mabel Walker Willebrandt, formerly accused of recanting to the prohibition cause by some of her associates when she became counsel for Fruit Industries, Ltd., the California wine-grape organization, one of whose New York plants recently was seized by prohibition officials. Others associated with Dr. Poling are Senator William E. Borah; Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania; Jane Addams, Frank E. Cannon, of Rochester; Mary E. Wooley, president of Mount Holyoke College, Dr. S. F. Parker, of New York; Raymond Robins, of New York; Mrs. Cleveland H. Dodge and Thomas A. Edison.

The allied forces will comprise three groups—allied youth, the allied businessmen, and the allied businesswomen. The campaign will be directed toward national convention delegates and vigorous efforts will be made to build up a showing of strength before the conventions. In each city where the campaign is organized a local organization will be formed, charged with the mobilization of all possible political strength. A national advertising and publicity campaign will be conducted, with the hope of reaching directly about 2,000,000 persons.

It was stated by a member of the organizing group, although not officially, that the new organization will rely on the "balance of power" method.

Credit Victory
Historians of the prohibition movement ascribe its phenomenal success in later years to this method. This plan, evolved by Charles Russell, reformed drunkard, saloonkeeper and prize fighter, started the Anti-Saloon league on the road to success. It involves merely the delivery of carefully recruited and compact voting strength to any candidate who will pledge himself for prohibition. Wets have learned that it is a formidable procedure and they are not underestimating the possible effect of such a concentration of strength during the pre-convention period.

Throughout the country there is a vast stirring among the drys and indications that they are putting on their war paint. From Washington today to the remotest village, the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals has warned the Democratic party that it will lose the south if it has dealings with John J. Raskob and his home rule plan. Unquestionably, the drys have definitely accepted prohibition as a national issue, in spite of their previous disclaimer, and are taking the initiative in the next big fight.

Who's Who On The Appleton Post-Crescent

Number 51

(This is the fifty-first of a series of articles about members of the staff of the Appleton Post-Crescent. The articles will seek to acquaint readers of this newspaper with those persons as individuals and also will discuss the nature of their work. Members of the staff are presented in the order of their length of service. The fifty-second article will appear tomorrow.)

Harry Hardt

Operating a linotype looks to be the easiest thing in the world as Harry Hardt, linotype operator, fingers the keys of his machine with an easy assurance, barely touching them at all.

In spite of easy appearance it takes a long time to master the operation of a linotype and much longer to acquire the speed of the operators in the Post-Crescent composing room. Mr. Hardt, who sets up advertising "cuts," creates designs according to layout instructions without deviating a letter or losing his steady speed.

Mr. Hardt learned linotyping at the Mergenthaler school in Chicago. He worked for the Banta Publishing Co. for three years before coming to the Post-Crescent in 1924. For the first three years he set straight news, going into advertising composition after that.

Mr. Hardt came from Menasha where he attended Menasha grade and high schools. During summer vacations, when he was a boy, he worked for a manufacturing company.

He likes to bowl and was a member of the Post-Crescent Bowling team that won the championship in 1929.

Like most of the other Post-Crescent staff, he likes to fish, only Mr. Hardt declares that he did catch the big one that usually gets away, last summer.

He is a member of the Holy Name society of St. Thomas church. Mr. and Mrs. Hardt live in their own home, 1426 N. Erb-st., with their three youngsters, Buddy, 4, Helen, 3, and 16 months-old Billy.

Successional Bloom Advised For Borders

Creation of unity, repetition, proportion and successional bloom in the perennial border was the keynote of the fifth of a series of lectures given by Dr. Franz Aust of the University of Wisconsin horticulture department before the Appleton Post-Crescent landscape gardening class in the vocational school auditorium Monday evening.

Dr. Aust explained that successional bloom is of primary importance in the arrangement of a border or flower garden which will catch the eye throughout the year. Flowers that bloom in the early and late spring, summer and autumn must be planted if successional bloom is to be insured, he stated. It also is possible to create beauty during the winter by planting certain types of winter sweet or other shrubbery.

As in former lectures he pointed to the design plan as an important factor in arranging flower gardens. Unity and harmony can be obtained when the design plan is followed closely, he stated. Proper proportion can be obtained when the design plan is followed in determining the length and width of the garden or border.

Kinds of flowers and shrubs which should create the edging, filler and

Fear Should Be Overcome In Children

BY ANGELO PATRI We can scarcely define fear beyond saying that it is an emotion. Who can describe an emotion, tell what it is, where it comes from and where it goes? It is, and then it is NOT. The emotion of fear is within the spirit of everyman, sometimes spurring to noble action, sometimes degrading to criminal cowardice. It can be a way of salvation, and it can kill with deadly, sinister power.

All children suffer from fear in some form or other. Some fears are helpful in that they save a child from hurt. It is right to fear evil. It is right that a child fear fire, unknown forces, crime. In that fear lies his greater safety.

But fear must be subordinated to the place where it is but the brake on the driving wheel, at hand for emergency, to be called on only in the moment of necessity. It must not hamper activity, dull the initiative of the children. It must not enter their association with other people, nor into the silences of their own spirits.

What makes a child afraid in the dark? I don't know. There is no way of finding out what frightens a child. I do not believe that children of itself ever frighten themselves but it may be that something unpleasant that happened in the darkness frightened them and they associate the darkness with the unpleasant experience. I don't know. I don't know what makes them afraid of harmless people, of touching fur or feathers. These fears rise to hamper the children and all we can do is to train the fear out and do all we can to substitute confidence for the fear.

Confidence grows out of a feeling of competency. When one feels able to command the situation he knows no fear. When he believes himself unable to face the emergency he is possessed by fear. We have to struggle to remain adequate, to help the children to feel so. To that end we build up their bodies. Health gives a child a feeling of well-being. The child with a good bowlful of cereal and milk inside him, with a chest that stands high, a stomach that is all sufficient to itself, can hold his own anywhere. For that child fear is unknown. Health and courage are likely to grow together. Not a hundred percent true, but often true. Not often enough to make us careful to build up a healthy body against the threat of fear.

Until you can build up physical, health and its reflection, mental health, deal gently with the child who is under fear. Speak gently. Avoid occasion for fear. Teach the child to turn on the lights as he goes through the house in the dark. The very fact that he has the power to light his own way in the darkness gives him courage. Go with him in the dark and encourage him as you would like to be encouraged during the dark hours that beset your spirit.

Courage kills fear. Work toward that but in silence. Words spoken to a child in fear ought to be the words of faith and encouragement and should have no reference to the trouble that is in him. Speak of courage, confidence, hope, and turn on the light. Fear is an unreality. It dies when confidence approaches, and confidence is born of health. Copyright, 1931, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

EDWARD DIX TO PLAY RECITAL THIS EVENING

Edward C. Dix, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Dix, Menasha, will present a recital at Peabody hall Wednesday evening. He is from the studio of Gladys Ives Brainard.

Among other things Mr. Dix will play "Danse Negre" by John Powell, an American pianist and composer. The composition was played by Mr. Powell when Walter Damrosch took the New York Symphony on a European tour several years ago. "Danse Negre" is an interesting composition containing melodies from negro spirituals, with a rhythm peculiar to that race. It is orchestrated in a modern manner, with whole tone scales and rich, weird harmony. It was written originally for the piano with symphony orchestra accompaniment, the orchestra score being transcribed by Edwin Hughes, New York pianist.

The lodge will be inspected by a grand officer, Mrs. M. Baxter, Madison, on May 21, according to an announcement made at the meeting. About 55 persons were present.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

BUT Sarah didn't give Ted a chance to talk to her. She knew that he wanted to get things straightened out, to understand just why she had talked in rhyning riddles, to have her comfortably fixed in his mind again, as a very good friend, not a puzzling girl.

And that was the very thing she didn't want. If he accepted her in that calm fashion she wouldn't be a disturbing factor. He would not think about her again.

"We are having stunts in the ballroom now. Everybody has to do something," she said. "Do a cakewalk, or sing a song, or anything. But nobody is exempt. Will you circulate the word?"

But she had forgotten the cadence of Joan's voice. She had not known how irresistibly lovely she would look as she sang the words of an old, old love song, dark dreams shining in her eyes, fleeting smiles playing hide-and-go seek around her lovely lips.

Ted was watching. So was Miles Jack's smile was adoring as he looked at Sue. In all the room every girl and every man had one person around whom he or she wove the melody of words.

Sarah forgot the charm of the song Joan sang. She thought of another one.

... the heart of a man to the heart of a maid,
Over the wide world over!"

So it was even at her party.

But when the song was ended and the other stunts were done, and the party was growing good and the time was growing late, someone remembered that Sarah herself had done nothing.

"I haven't accomplished," she said. Then a thought came dancing, a rather brilliant, breathtaking sort of idea.

The old ballroom had been rented to a physical director once upon a time, and a trapeze still swayed against the ceiling. The rope was strong. She knew. She had tried it a few times. The ceiling wasn't so high. Still, the ballroom took in the second floor and the attic of the old house.

She had turned somersaults on a very low trapeze often. If she didn't think very much, maybe she could forget the fact that this time there would be a few more feet, and do the thing again. It was worth trying. If she fell, someone would catch her... maybe.

She asked for a ladder, and since the orchestra had gone, one of the girls went to the main floor and ran into her bedroom and slipped out of a red dress. A white sleeveless blouse and some black trunks were necessary for this stunt.

"Sarah, you aren't going to pull off a stunt that you don't know anything about. This is dumb," she recognized. "Voice and turned to smile into his eyes. 'You don't know what you are doing!'"

"Oh, yes, I do Ted! That's why I'm doing it!"

Trying to compete with Joan. That was what she was thinking. But he would never know. Joan was with Ted again. Miles hovered just beyond.

"The heart of a man to the heart of a maid," she would be above all of them; she would be rather free and primitive when she swung her body around on that trapeze in the air. And suddenly she was afraid. It was foolish to do this. She wondered what was the matter with herself. If she could resurrect her daring mood, she could carry it off and succeed. But if she couldn't...

NEXT: Sarah's stunt.

ROUGH TREATMENT
Cleveland — A burglar, breaking into the home of Joseph Strand didn't expect such rough treatment. Joseph, returning home late, noticed the light burning in his house and waited outside a door until the thief made his exit. Then Joseph brought a broom handle down forcibly on his head, breaking the tough wood in two. The thief dropped his gun and Strand picked it up. He fired three shots at the fleeing culprit, but failed to score a hit.

RARE COFFEE WINS COUNTLESS NEW USERS BY FLAVOR
Amazing Popularity of Hills Bros. Coffee Tribute to Roasting Process

Years of experiment by Hills Bros. have resulted in the origination and perfection of the only Controlled Roasting process in use today.

By Hills Bros.' patented process, the degree of roast is positively controlled. The quantity of coffee passing into the roaster—about three pounds at a time—does not vary. The speed of the flow and the temperature remain the same, with the result that Hills Bros. Coffee is absolutely uniform. This roasting method is to a large degree responsible for the frequent question, "Why is Hills Bros. Coffee always the same?"

Comparisons show that Hills Bros. Coffee has a flavor no other coffee has. The ordinary method of roasting in bulk cannot insure a uniform roast because there is a lack of control.

The vacuum can, in which Hills Bros. Coffee is packed, keeps the coffee fresh. Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is completely removed from the can and kept out. Coffee does not stay fresh in ordinary cans, even if air-tight. Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab—the trade-mark—on the can. Sold by grocers everywhere.

Feminine daintiness expresses this new model of printed crepe silk. And what a fascinating affair it is to make and wear.
A peplum frill encircles the hips—but it cleverly placed so as not to interfere with its slenderness. A frill also furnishes the fitted crepe collar that chooses the becoming V-shape at the front and bow trim.
Plain flat crepe, sheer crepe, woolens, lace and many rayon novelties are all lovely materials for this model.
Style No. 3006 may be had in sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Size 36 requires 25 yards of 39-inch material with 2 yard of 68-inch contrasting and 5 yards of ribbon for binding.
The pattern provides for long cuffed sleeves as seen in small illustration.
The bindings are in plain colored crepe in the same tone of the print while the collar used the palest shade.

DRY SKIN CAUSE OF TWITCHING IN UPPER ARM

BY ALICIA HART
"I've got the twitches in my shoulder and upper arms," a woman writes me. "My flesh seems to itch, especially after bathing. What is the matter, do you suppose?"

The chances are, unless she has some nervous disorder, that dry skin is the real cause of these spring twitches.

If you have a nervous desire to scratch your shoulders, your arms, especially the upper part, try cold creaming them after you bathe. Not an over dose of cream. Just enough to rub in thoroughly and see if it doesn't relax the skin and stop the twitches.

Often it is the water we bathe in that is not quite the right softness for our skin. Sometimes it is soap. If you use a bland soap, a Castile soap or any other pure soap, then you can rest assured that that is not the reason for it.

Cold cream does more than just oil the skin enough to soften it and relax it. Rubbing it in gives the arms and shoulders a much needed massage. It helps circulation and that in itself is worth while.

If your whole body seems to have this dry, itching feeling, give yourself a cold cream bath; don't swim in it; let it be just scented all over massage.

You do not need to use your most expensive cream for this. Any of the theatrical cold creams are all right for this. They are excellent, as a matter of fact, for they usually are greater than more expensive ones and therefore less of them will do the trick as well as about one-fourth the price of your favorite brand.

Just one bar of cold cream will be enough for you to oil yourself for a week, if you use it right. Slap some on your arms, rub it up and around until the whole arm is covered, repeat on the neck, reaching down as far as you can toward the shoulder blades and pulling the hands up again.

It is a good thing to give yourself this treatment after bathing at night before retiring. Rub the cream on well but do not put on so much you have to wipe it off. For if you use it sparingly you can just go to bed and be sure that your body will absorb it all by morning. Repeat even more

WE WOMEN

By Virginia Vane

Dear Virginia Vane: I should like to meet the girl who wrote to you some time ago about her impending marriage to an older man who could give her a fine home. I should like to tell her how utterly valueless that fine home will be to her, if there is no love in it. I married when I was her age, and I married to escape poverty, just as lots of other girls do. The man I married was kind enough, but nothing he could do would bring me happiness for I never loved him. At first I thought I was lucky. I used to invite my friends to come and dine with me so that I could show off my lovely wedding presents and my beautiful surroundings. And their envy seemed to me to make up for everything. Then after while, I noticed that they weren't envying me. One of them was marrying a boy she loved, and setting up house-keeping in a modest way which filled her with happiness. Another was making a success of her job and planning happily to take an apartment with another girl. All of them were making warm human contacts, filling their lives with happiness, through love, and I was left with oil my beautiful furniture, and my magnificent home, lonely and miserable. I learned fast enough that independence and poverty are better than dependence on the man one never can love. I learned that it's better to fight for what you need in life, than to take it at the cost of one's personal liberty. And I'd like your correspondent, and any other girl who plans a lovely marriage for creature comforts to believe me when I say there is no comfort to be obtained from such a marriage. I have missed my chance of happiness and I don't want to see another girl do the same thing.

LONELY.

each other. Is there any way I can stop his marrying the other girl? JANE.

No, there isn't any way you can stop his marrying the girl he loves, and why should you want to? What good would it do you to break up this romance? If he loved you once and has found someone else, you can rest assured that he's through with loving you. Even if he gave up the other girl for some reason, he would not return to you.

You see, it doesn't matter what you think about his suitability to you. He obviously has deficient ideas and you could never make him happy, if you were the best wife in the world, so long as he definitely wasn't in love with you.

Give up thinking about him. Accept this marriage as just one of those disappointments which come to most of us, before we find the right man and settle down.

Don't get the idea that your life is blighted, or that you're singularly unfortunate in having this happen to you. There are extremely "new men or women who attain the ripe age of thirty without having seen given the air by someone at some time. You're taking your medicine now, and once its over, you'll be all the wiser for your experience.

DOLLY: You can't blame the boy's mother if she thinks your conduct a little odd. Naturally she wants to meet you and it is distinctly ungracious of you to refuse to be introduced.

No matter what you've heard about her, you owe it to the man you love and to his family to make their acquaintance, and to do your best to establish a friendly relationship. If you weren't a little bit too filled with a sense of your own importance, you'd see the other fellow's point of view, and you'd make up your mind to get this meeting over with and to make a good job of it, just to please somebody else.

No, there isn't any way you can stop his marrying the girl he loves, and why should you want to? What good would it do you to break up this romance? You see, it doesn't matter what you think about his suitability to you. He obviously has deficient

AUGMENT CITY POLICE FORCE, COUNCIL URGED

Aldermen Expected to Act on Request Sometime This Month

Menasha — Agitation for an increase in police department personnel reached a climax at the common council meeting Tuesday evening when James Lyman, police chief, and a number of business men and council members to add from three to five men to the department. Final action will be taken at the next session May 19 if not at a previous special meeting, it was decided.

In opening the discussion, Mayor N. R. Remmel stated that a petition urging the increase had been presented to the council last fall, signed by 530 voters; that a police committee report had advised the addition of at least three regular patrolmen; and that a report from the committee of the whole had been ordered at the council meeting of April 23.

Chief Addresses Council
Following a temporary suspension of the rules, Chief of Police James Lyman told aldermen that with the present force, the city has inadequate protection, that the island is practically without police facilities, that the traffic problem has increased considerably during the past few years, and that the addition of at least three men to the force is imperative. Other cities of the same size as Menasha have, in many cases, five or six men policemen, and are able to provide adequate protection, he pointed out.

A number of business men also urged an increase in department personnel. R. Fieweger, cashier of the Bank of Menasha, stated that a bank robbery is a black eye to the town, suggested that a patrolman be on duty on Main-st. between the banks throughout the day, and urged that the police department be placed on a standard of efficiency attained by the city fire department.

Henry Schmalz protested the lack of police protection on the island, particularly in the vicinity of the city park and the Nicolet school where children are endangered by motorists. D. Hopfensperger also emphasized the need for protection on the island, stating that children are not safe on the streets under existing conditions.

Suggests Bond Issue
Further arguments in favor of the proposal were presented by Roy Gear, Harold Landgraf, and E. Saecker, who explained that the cost of additional police would be a worth while investment, rather than an expense. Alderman Scholier and Grode pointed out the lack of funds, and budget limitations, and Grode suggested a bond issue, not only for police expenses but for general improvement of city streets and the relief of unemployment.

Mayor Remmel outlined action without careful consideration of ways and means, but stated that no addition had been made to police personnel in the last ten years, although the population of the city has increased more than 2,000. A special meeting will be held in a few days, and action taken when the aldermen are sufficiently prepared, he stated.

Street and sewer improvements were discussed Tuesday, and action taken on a number of projects. Construction of approximately 1,500 feet of sidewalk will be started under the direction of the board of public works and the street committee, and the city clerk was authorized to advertise for bids on pipe, returnable May 19.

Sewer construction on Eighth-st., Fifth-st. and Appleton-st. was authorized and following a request, several petitions relative to street lighting and sidewalks were granted. DePere-st. from Eighth-st. to the Appleton-rd. Third-st. east of Tayco-st. Kaukauna-st. from Lush-st. to the Menasha locks, and Fourth-st. west of Tayco-st. will be constructed and a sidewalk will be constructed on the south side of Seventh-st. from Racine-st. to Appleton-st. It was decided. Construction of a sidewalk on the west side of Eighth-st. to Rounds woods will receive further consideration by the street committee.

The city clerk was authorized to advertise for bids on sidewalk repair and construction, returnable May 19, and also on the grading of the 10 acre addition to the city cemetery, returnable on the same date.

A license to operate a soft drink parlor at 230 Main-st. was issued to John M. Mahon, on recommendation of the police committee and the chief of police. The application of John Lingnolski, former alderman, for a license to operate a soft drink parlor on the corner of Fifth and Appleton-sts. was rejected. Objections to the operation of a soft drink parlor at that locality had led the south side residents that the district is strictly residential, Mayor Remmel stated.

Report on Finances
The report of city finances, compiled by C. B. Selfert, business analyst and controller, read at Tuesday's meeting indicated that municipal records were in excellent condition, and lauded the work of city employees and officials.

The report of the poor commissioner disclosed an expenditure of $1,062.78 during April, with $270.35 chargeable to the county and the monthly report of the judiciary committee revealed court fines totaling $192 and police fees of $5.85. The bonds of C. A. Heckrodt, city treasurer, and John Sosenbrenner, police commissioner, were accepted, and the monthly report of finances read.

The mayor authorized the police to be authorized to select a police for duty during the high school band contest in Menasha May 15 and 16.

NO OPPOSITION TO MEASURE ON COURT SYSTEM

Hearing on Bill Concerning Twin Cities Held at Madison

Menasha — No opposition to a bill proposing creation of a municipal court system in Menasha and Neenah was presented at a hearing of the judiciary committee of the state assembly in the Capitol building at Madison Tuesday afternoon. The bill will be presented to the legislature for passage during the present session, it is expected.

The bill proposes a municipal court system, to convene alternately in Menasha and Neenah, and to have jurisdiction over civil and criminal action in both cities. A full time judge and a clerk of court would be employed.

All municipal court cases arising in the twin cities now are taken to the Oshkosh court, the only municipal court in Winnebago-co. The expense and inconvenience resulting from the present system gave rise to agitation for twin city lawyers for creation of a court system here, and the movement has been under way for more than a year, authorities stated.

Although M. F. Crowley, Menasha city attorney, and John O'Leary, Neenah city attorney, were both unopposed to the bill, both communicated their support of the proposal to the judiciary committee.

Neither the Neenah nor Menasha councils have taken definite action on the proposal, but it is understood that both aldermanic bodies, in addition to twin city attorneys, are in favor of the project, and will seek favorable action by the state legislature.

Creation of the court system was proposed by the twin city bar, and notice that the proposal had been made a bill, was received recently, Attorney Crowley stated.

WAGE QUESTION HARD PROBLEM IN OLD WORLD

Luxemburg Delegate Points to Difference of Conditions in Europe

lem," he continued. "The insistence on a solution must be continued by an aroused public opinion, letting the responsibility for the character and scope of the planes rest on industry."

Washington — (AP) — Wages and their relation to economic balance were discussed at today's meeting of the International Chamber of Commerce by Aloys Meyer, of Luxembourg, president of the European Steel cartel.

He drew a distinction between nominal wages, or the amount of money paid, and "real wages" representing the amount of goods that can be bought with the pay. He said European conditions differed from those here and that introduction of the American system of high nominal wages in those countries would be disastrous.

"The general tendency may and should be directed toward high real wages," said Meyer. "It is of little consequence to a wage earner if his income be devalued or increased, provided the cost of living increases or decreases in the same proportions."

Economic factors, he said, are stronger than theory and "impose the measure which must not be exceeded without endangering the general economic balance of a country."

Meyer agreed with the report of the Chicago Tribune delegate, that the limit of high wages has been reached in the United States and that this "explains the attempt on the part of industrial interests to obtain increase in customs duties."

Citing the cases of England and Germany since the war, Meyer said that policy of high wages in those countries, although it has benefited them compared with those in America, had not given satisfactory economic results.

"Without pretending that their depression is the exclusive result of high wages," he said, "nevertheless it cannot be denied that they have been important contributing factors."

"The other European countries cannot practice the policy of high wages," he blundered out of Great Britain's troubles on the fact that while she has free trade the cost of living and wages are high and added:

"Free trade and low cost of living must go side by side. One without the other leads to a disturbance in the economic equilibrium."

Problem In Britain

Great Britain, he said, had been considering abandonment of her free trade policy. This he termed a "very grave problem and one which must upset the economic structure."

The tendency in Germany now is toward lower wages and a decreased cost of living, he said. That country, he added, has experienced a successive increase in wages, resulting from legislation giving the government authority to fix them. But industry, forced to mechanization, Meyer asserted, has been unable to carry this out without borrowing extensively abroad and interest payments on these borrowings "have seriously affected the balance of trade."

"Thereupon," he continued, "this necessary mechanization has increased from day to day the number of unemployed. Today they constitute an enormous burden upon the country."

While resolutions endorsing futures trading and calling for a world-wide conference on silver stabilization have been passed on to the international gathering for action, it appeared today that the Russian trade question has been shelved.

Although on yesterday's agenda, debate on other subjects crowded it out. There was a promise it would be given attention later, but where it would be placed in an already full program no one could say.

Hugh L. Cooper, president of the American-Russian Chamber of Commerce was prepared to discuss the subject when yesterday's meeting adjourned.

In his prepared speech, which was distributed to delegates, Cooper, a noted engineer, predicted Soviet Russia would buy at least $3,000,000,000 worth of goods annually "if the outside world will consider this trade opportunity on sound economic principles."

He suggested a study of the Russian trade outlook by interested nations with a view to holding a conference with the Soviets to formulate international agreements and a "mutually advantageous world-wide trade program." Russia would welcome such a conference, he said.

No afternoon session was on today's program, although a number of resolutions were ready for consideration before adjournment for luncheon.

Bulletin Revises Theory About Steam Radiation

Urbana, Ill. — (AP) — A theory about steam radiators is upset in a bulletin issued today at the University of Illinois.

The theory holds that radiators should be installed according to the amount of steam they condense, which means their total heat emission. But the Illinois experiments show that this does not mean as much at the arm-chair or "comfort" level of a living room. Shape and location of the radiator are more important factors in projecting heat where it is wanted, instead of concentrating it out of reach overhead.

The bulletin includes the last 18 months' studies of keeping warm in a "synthetic home" where the engineering experiment station has been experimenting for several years in cooperation with the Institute of Boiler and Radiator Manufacturers and the Illinois Master Plumbers association.

"Ever since we have had radiators," says Prof. Arthur C. Willard, head of the department of mechanical engineering, "it has been considered that the more steam a radiator condensed the better the radiator. Now as a result of university researches it has been shown plainly that this is an erroneous. What we want is a radiator that will maintain a uniform temperature between the floor and the ceiling with a comfortable temperature at chair-level."

A long, low, thin radiator placed under a window heats a room quite differently from a thicker, shorter and higher radiator in the same place. The low radiator, with less square feet of surface, and the same steam condensation, heats the room level at two and a half feet above the floor "with a decided gain in economy over the short, high, thick one."

Both radiators produce the same temperature at the "breathing level" but the air currents from the two shapes differ so much that the high radiator concentrates heat near the ceiling while the low one hits for the knees.

Oil paints are found better for radiators than the bright, metal bronze paints. All colors of oil paint are equally good. Metal bronze reduces the heat of radiators from 7.4 to 9.2 per cent and cuts it by 13 per cent from drum heaters. For setting heat out of a drum a very rusty surface is 7 per cent better than any paint.

Color, the bulletin explains, is important in the case of the sun's radiation, but does not materially affect the infrared rays from "the lower temperatures of radiators. The most unfavorable location for a radiator is near the ceiling. Shields about heaters may either improve or impair efficiency. It all depends on shape of the shield."

DOMINION IS GOVERNED BY SINGLE FAMILY

Canada's "Handsomest" Group, All Immensely Rich, in Power

Ottawa, Canada.—If fate, playing one of the pranks which it sometimes does, had upset the best-laid plans of previous generations the handsome Vere Brabazon Ponsonby might have been one of the leading actors of this day instead of being the new governor general of Canada and holding the title of the Earl of Bessborough.

Indeed his beautiful wife and daughter might have joined him on the stage to produce an alliance of talent rivaling that of the Barrymore family.

But fate did not interfere. The dashing Ponsonby succeeded to the peerage and became the Earl of Bessborough, a title which carried with it traditions of Irish achievement and gallantry.

Now, after a distinguished career as an interesting business figure, he has been appointed by King George as his representative in the Dominion of Canada. One of the youngest men to be given the position—he is 51 years old—he has maintained and even surpassed the records of his ancestors.

Has Own Theater
But the lure of the stage hasn't been denied, however. At Stansfeld Park, the earl's estate near London, the farm buildings have been remodeled into a theater of his own design. Shakespearean plays are given frequently and the Irish peer is happiest when he has the lead in "King Henry IV" or some other vehicle of the immortal dramatist.

Usually his two children, Lady Moyra Ponsonby and Viscount Dunannon, take part while Countess Bessborough watches from a box. Sometimes she even acts herself. Now, with another child expected soon, it is even possible that within a few years there will be a young actor to play juvenile leads.

To the world the Ponsonby family will be known because of the earl's high position and the good looks of all of them, but behind the scenes always will be the play of fantasy, the merry quip and the royal romance of the stage.

It is well. It is to be expected that a Ponsonby, seeking diversion, might turn to the vicarious adventure, the glamour and the neatly turned phrase—behind the footlights. It helps to carry out the family traditions.

Famous Fur Generations
Since the days of the French revolution, the Ponsonbys have been noted for their fine appearance and dashing exploits. It is even related that one gay handsome young Ponsonby, caught in the swirl of the revolution, was whisked away by the embittered, milling mob.

"Hang him! He's an English aristocrat!" the mob cried.

He wasn't even granted the dignity of the guillotine. A noose was placed around his neck. There were women in the crowd. They gazed upon his surpassingly handsome features—and couldn't resist. They pleaded to save him and their pleas were granted. He was allowed to live.

The present governor general of Canada hasn't had such a narrow escape. But if he were in such a predicament—well, he is handsome.

His adventures have been on the battlefields of Big Business. And he has won notable victories. Back in Kilkenny county, Ireland, the ancestral home, as a young man he was attracted to business. He started early. His interests became world wide in a very few years.

Upon the death of his father he succeeded to the peerage and served in Parliament as a Conservative. It was not his first experience there, for before receiving the title he was elected to the House of Commons. Once he was Conservative candidate against Lloyd George.

During the World War he served with distinction in France and Gallipoli. He was decorated by his own government as well as by France, Italy, Belgium, Russia, and Greece. He never forgot his age. While he was rising from national prominence to become a director of a Brazilian railroad and of the De Beers diamond mines, he found time to develop Stansfeld Park theater. While he rose to directorships in wireless and cable communication concerns, he would slip away and produce "A Midsummer Night's Dream" and occasionally he even turned to modern plays, some of them Shaw's.

Big Business Man
International recognition was inevitable. With a deputy chairmanship in Unilever Limited and interests in the soap and margarine trust, Lord Bessborough was indeed a dominant figure in the British business world. The earnings of the soap and margarine trust ran to $16,000,000 last year.

His appointment as governor general was a surprise. It surprised the public, but it surprised more some of the lords who didn't expect the king would turn to so young a man and one whose career had been only indirectly connected with government.

His appointment pleased the Canadian people. French Canadians haven't forgotten that the countess is the only daughter of Viscount de Noailles, one of the outstanding French bankers. They have welcomed her as a daughter of their own France.

In the earl they apparently see an acceptance of Canada's position as an outstanding world power in business. He is of that world.

And then there is his career as a soldier. He likes sports, too, and is an excellent horseman. He seems to typify the gallantry and achievements of the distinguished members of the peerage.

Happily Mary-d

Those rumors that she and Douglas Fairbanks are to be divorced are false—absolutely false. That's what Mary Pickford had to say when, as shown above, she arrived in New York en route to Europe. Yes, she's going to meet husband Doug over there.

PHYSICIANS PLAN TO TAKE PUBLIC INTO THEIR CONFIDENCE

Minneapolis.—(AP)—Those old-fashioned family doctors whose mysterious conferences made men and women shiver with fear not so many years ago, may soon be just a memory in this country.

An educational program to take the public into the confidence of medical men and to educate it on methods developed in medicine and on prevention of disease is being outlined by delegates to the Minnesota State Medical association, holding its 78th annual convention here.

No plan of medical care can be fully successful without intelligent public opinion and cooperation, according to Dr. Ludwig Sogge, of Windom, retiring president of the association.

The importance of educating the public in advancements made in medicine and surgery was stressed yesterday by Dr. Charles H. Mayo, famous Rochester physician.

"No matter how far the profession advances, he said, 'it will not accomplish everything possible until the public is educated and kept in touch with what the profession is doing.'"

Dr. Melvin S. Henderson of Rochester, was elected president of the association yesterday to succeed Dr. Sogge.

150 GOLD STAR MOTHERS START ON PILGRIMAGE

New York.—(AP)—After being told that the whole nation was proud of them and their sacrifices, 150 gold star mothers sailed for France today on the liner George Washington. They comprised the first 1931 contingent to depart on a pilgrimage to the graves of American World war dead.

In a bon voyage ceremony before the vessel sailed from Hoboken, N. J., Frederick H. Payne, assistant secretary of war, told the women their trip was as idealistic in conception as that of their sons.

"The spirit in which this opportunity is proffered by our government, and is accepted by you mothers of those American soldiers who sleep eternally beneath the sod of foreign lands, has its root deep in the hearts of all our people," Mr. Payne said.

STATE EMPLOYEES TO LOSE TAX EXEMPTIONS

Madison.—(AP)—Approximately 5,000 state employees will lose their federal income tax exemptions under a ruling made by the bureau of internal revenue at Washington this week, according to A. E. Garey, director of the state bureau of personnel.

The ruling says that "state employees are exempt from federal income tax only when they are engaged in functions which can be performed only by the state itself." It is interpreted to mean that higher education, provision for transportation, artificial light, water, or such utilities are not state functions.

Mr. Garey says if the interpretation is correct, 3,693 employees at the university, besides workers engaged in the other fields will be affected.

FISHERMAN LOSES FISH, SAVES LEG AT KAUKAUNA DOCK

Kaukauna.—(AP)—Joseph Zink, local fisherman, tells of being forced to choose between a large fish and the loss of his leg. Zink said he was seated on a dock and got a nibble. In the resultant activity the strap of his artificial leg loosened. Zink grabbed for the limb and the fish escaped.

APPLETON MEN ATTEND FUNERAL OF COL. HALL

A large delegation of Appleton members of the Rainbow division attended the funeral Monday of Col. William Hall at Oconto. Col. Hall was formerly the commanding officer of the 150th machine gun battalion of the Rainbow division. One of the companies of this battalion was composed of Appleton men. Major Lothar Graef of Appleton succeeded Colonel Hall as commander of this group when the major was advanced to colonel. Among the Appleton men who attended the military rites were: Major Graef, Colonel Hugh Pomeroy, John E. Hantschel, Joseph Marston, Dr. W. J. Frawley, August Arens and William Thompson.

CHRYSLER

Joyously Different PERFORMANCE

Step into a New Chrysler Six or a Chrysler Eight and drive a few miles. You'll acquire new views about performance. You'll understand why we say, "Drive a Chrysler and enjoy the difference."

A Chrysler—any Chrysler—is delightfully different from other cars. A Chrysler is more awake, more alive, quicker in response, more facile in suiting its pace to match your mood.

The New Chrysler Six is styled like the smart Chrysler Eight—a fine big Six with a 116-inch wheelbase; a heavy double-drop frame; a 70-horsepower engine and safety bodies of steel.

The Chrysler Eight—in addition to its distinguished appearance, low center of gravity and safety bodies of steel construction—is notable for its Multi-Range four-speed transmission with Dual High gears.

Two high gears instead of one—a high gear for flashing sprints in city driving and another high gear for the open road. Both high gears are of a patented internal-mesh type—which makes it possible for you to shift from one to the other in the twinkling of an eye, at any car speed, and without clashing.

And all Chryslers, at all speeds, give you a fine sense of security, a feeling of perfect control—due to the quick, sure action of Chrysler internal hydraulic brakes, always self-equalizing.

Get a Chrysler—and enjoy the difference.

Bankers, Fox River And Foresters Win Opening Softball Games

CONTINUE PLAY IN THREE LOOPS DURING SUMMER

Twenty-four Teams Will Show Once Each Week on City Diamonds

THE Appleton softball season of 1931 got underway last night when six clubs opened play in the three leagues, the National league, the American league and the recently organized Fraternal league.

Twenty-four teams are entered in the three loops, organization being completed several weeks ago under direction of A. C. Denney, summer playground director. The season will continue until late in August, the teams playing four times each week. The American league plays at Roosevelt school the National league at Pierce park and the Fraternal league at Wilson school.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Bankers 2, Legion 2.

The Bankers, under the direction of the veteran Eddie Starnard got off to an impressive start when they went out and walloped the Legion, 21 to 2 at Pierce park grounds. The Bankers hit the ball hard all evening but took advantage of impending darkness to sneak eight runs across the plate in the ninth inning.

Like all veteran ball clubs, the Legion team has a bunch of slow starters and the two runs they chalked up, one in the third, and again in the fifth, was an indication of what can be expected later in the season. The end of the third inning saw the Bankers with a 10-0 lead. In the fifth, they added six more in the next three innings, went scoreless in the seventh and then pounded out one in the eighth and eight in the ninth.

Legion manager, McKenzie and Stoenhager, worked for the Bankers and Griener and Bowley for the Legion. Wednesday night the Printers and Wire Works clash; Thursday, Co. D and the Brandt; and Friday, Adams and Pure Mills.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Fox River 11, Coated Paper 7.

Fox River Paper company opened the American league race with the Coated Paper nine and hung up an impressive victory, 11 to 7. Taking a four run lead in the second frame the Fox Rivers added four more markers in the third and both clubs were scoreless in the fourth. The fifth inning saw the F. R. team get one run and Coated three. Fox River added two runs in the eighth inning and the Coated staged a big splurge in the ninth that netted four runs.

Batteries for Coated were Egbert and Brockhaus; for Fox River, Jacob and C. O. Baetz. Murphy of the winners starred on defense and Wagner on offense with a single, double and triple.

The week's schedule follows:

Wednesday—Fox company vs. Wisconsin Telephone.
Thursday—Machines vs. Tuttle Press.
Friday—No game.

FRATERNAL LEAGUE

Foresters 3, DeMolay 4.

Foresters opened the Fraternal league with a victory over the DeMolay team, the score being 3 and 4. The DeMolays took a one run lead in the first inning and added three runs to lead 4 and 0 before the Foresters broke into the scoring column.

Things happened fast then, the Foresters getting two in the third inning, one in the fifth and six in the sixth. The Foresters were aided in their victory by wildness on the part of Woehler, DeMolay pitcher. He walked 10 men and the free tickets and errors by some of his mates hurt. Horton caught for the Foresters. Ryan and Kitzinger worked for the Foresters. A home run by Woehler with two on featured the game's hitting.

Wednesday, the Holy Name team will play the Knights of Columbus; Thursday Zion Lutheran society draws the Eagles; Friday night the Junior Chamber of Commerce plays the Moose.

All games are played on Wilson school diamond.

LINCOLN NINE RALLIES AND BEATS COLUMBUS

Lincoln school baseball team defeated the Columbus school team in a recent game, 11 and 8 when the Lincoln team staged a mammoth rally in the eighth inning and scored nine runs. Previous to that time the score had been tied at 8 all.

The game was a regular grade school league game. Members of the Columbus team were R. Ross, P. Brucite, H. Roth, F. Burton, H. Schreider, C. Tolson, D. Rudolph, J. Smirnass, O. Wolfgram, T. Blante, M. Maurice. Members of the Lincoln school team were D. Diggs, O. Bayer, R. Ferguson, D. McKeefry, J. Batson, R. Coddington, L. Hebl, R. Herman.

Rah-Rah Boys Know How to Rally

Monmouth, Ill.—(AP)—It happened in a college baseball game, but here's one for the books of the Bradley Monmouth game yesterday. Both teams staged such stirring rallies that 13 batters strode to the plate for each team in the inning. Scott of Monmouth struck out with the bases loaded and two out in the final frame of the ninth inning as Bradley won, 17 to 16.

Johnny Farrell on GOLF

(Former American Open Champion)

As told to Alan Gould

NO. 7 BUNKER SHOTS

THE AVERAGE GOLFER makes more needless hard work for himself trying to get out of traps than perhaps any other feature of the game.

Bunker shots are subject to change because of the wide range of circumstances under which they may have to be made, but I would set forth these few general, simple principles in the use of the niblick:

1. Stand close to the ball.
2. Get a good, firm footing.
3. Lay the club back.
4. Use the wrists, with no pivot.
5. Keep the head down.

If you have ever noticed Bobby Jones, you know how easy an explosion shot can look. Just a flick of the wrists, with the club faked away back, the head going from the outside inward, to give the necessary "cut."

It is a big mistake to use a full swing on a bunker shot. There are occasional shots requiring it, but generally a short swing gets far better results.

By little practice it can be discovered whether to hit a half inch or an inch behind the ball to get the desired result.

All this, as I say, refers to the use of the niblick, preferably a heavy one. However, all bunker shots are not niblick shots. Judgment should tell the player what club to use under special circumstances.

In a shallow trap, with distance to be covered, an iron can often be used to advantage perhaps even a spoon.

I have seen Jones use a spoon from a trap on occasion when the hazard permitted it.

Around the green a putter some-

WRONG... Full swing... impossible to control.

Johnny Farrell with the niblick. A great many golfers, he finds, think it necessary to blast out of bunkers with the full swing shown left. A little flick with a short swing, illustrated right, is what really does the trick, he says.

times is more sensible to use than a niblick, especially in a fairly shallow bunker, which has no obstructing over-hang or when the sand is wet and hard-packed.

New Sacrifice Rule Will Affect Batting Averages

BY JOHN B. FOSTER
Copyright, 1931

NEW YORK (CPA)—Baseball is seeing a lot of interesting things, with the season only a few weeks old.

A glance at the batting averages today makes it clear that they have been deflated by the elimination of the sacrifice fly. Babe Ruth, back in the fray again, things the rule makers should not have abolished it. Every other big batter thinks much the same. If there were no better evidence needed, that of itself proves that some of the best players played for their percentages—which is not sound baseball as any manager will tell you.

Ruth says the batter should get credit when he sends a runner in from third. He does. He is given credit for a run batted in and that is pay dirt. To be given credit for a run batted in, which is worth something, and to be exempt from a time at bat because of a sacrifice fly, rubbed it on the pitchers in two days and gave the batters too big a bonus. A batting average to be worth anything should stand as staunchly as possible on actual hits. The batter is exempted from a time at bat if he is hit by the pitcher or is given a base on balls. That is presented because he reaches first base, and while the rule was made in order that the good waiters should have something for their good, eye-sight, it was originally intended as a punishment for pitchers who went to give bases on balls as often as they pleased in emergencies.

A Ludicrous Rule
Once there was a rule that gave a batter a base hit for a base on balls. That rule was passed because the theorists thought a batter should get prime credit for anything that helped him to first base, but it was such a ludicrous rule that it went out of existence after a year.

There is no doubt that some batters, under the existence of the sacrifice fly, were trying to punch out a long fly when they should have been trying for something more tonic. The complaint that batting averages may shrink a little this year isn't well balanced because this change applies to all batters alike. The result of the new rule will be to establish the actual strength of batters, regardless of what they are. The very good batters are standing up well under the new code and as the season goes on a batting average will mean more of a real record of batting than it did with bases on balls, sacrifice flies and hit by pitcher, favoring the performances of players who should, in reality, be judged on their batting skill alone.

Lindstrom is one of the great right hand hitters of all time, he said, adding "I know because I saw them all."

NOFFKE FUELS LOSE TO SHAWANO TEAM, 7-4

Shawano — In a final practice game, the Shawano Blues Sunday defeated the Appleton team of the Winnebago County league by a count of 7 to 4, at the Shawano fair grounds.

The team is shaping up very well, and will have plenty of zip for the opening engagement of the season at Green Bay. Fans have been particularly worried over the club's hurling staff, but an undercurrent of optimism is discernible following Sunday's exhibition.

WES SCHULMERICH LICKS PHILS WITH TRIPLE IN NINTH

Yanks Hop on Nats and Pound Out 18 to 8 Victory; Athletics Win

BY GAYLE TALBOT JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
HERE, Boston fans are asking today, has this Wesley Schumlerich been for the last three weeks?

They had their first glimpse of Wes just two days ago, when he appeared in right field for the Braves and knocked in a run that helped beat the Phillies, 4 to 3. They saw him for the second time yesterday, when he hit a homer in the sixth and then tripled in the ninth to drive in the score that licked the Phils again, 5 to 4.

The big outfielder, who hit .377 for Los Angeles last season, has been riding the bench ever since the Braves got home from the south. The report got out that he couldn't hit a curve ball. Evidently the Phils forgot to serve him benders in the last two games.

If Schumlerich can maintain anything like the pace he set in his big league debut, the Braves can claim a pair of the year's outstanding newcomers. The other is Robert Webb, "Red" Worthington, the left-fielder obtained from Rochester, who has been hitting in cleanup position. He also put one out of the park yesterday, tying the score and paving the way for Schumlerich's winning punch.

Arlett Gets 4th Homer
Buzz Arlett hit his fourth homer of the year in the third, when the Phils scored all their runs off Tom Zachary.

The National league race tightened around the top as the Glants made it two straight from Brooklyn, 8 to 0, and the Cardinals were idle for the second time. Only a half-game separated them today. Freddie Fitzsimmons held the Robins to three hits.

Chicago's Cubs clung to third place by downing Cincinnati again, 8 to 4. They scored all their runs in the first three innings off Frey and Benton. Sweetland's lead was never in danger.

There was another rapid change of scenery in the American league as the Washington Senators took a one-sided trimming from the Yankees and dropped from second place to fifth, just like that. The champion Athletics took advantage of the excitement to move into third place.

In winning their first game from the Senators since early last September, 13 to 8, the Yankees pounded four pitchers for 19 hits, including homers by Gehrig and Rhee. Babe Ruth cleared the bases with a mighty double in the second inning.

Earnshaw in Form
George Earnshaw turned in his second brilliant performance in five days as the Athletics defeated the Red Sox, 4 to 1. He allowed only six hits, one of them a homer by Earl Webb, and struck out 10. His last previous appearance saw him shut out the Yankees. Mule Haas hit a triple and double to lead the champions' attack.

Cleveland held its two-game advantage over the field by out-scoring the St. Louis Browns, 11 to 6. Burnett, Averill and Fossie held a 17-hit assault on three Brown pitchers, the latter hitting a homer.

Long distance hitting and Urban Faber's fine relief hurling featured the White Sox 7 to 3 victory over Detroit. Faber allowed only one hit and after relieving Frasier in the fifth inning, The Sox collected 11 hits off three hitters, including four triples and three doubles.

Calling the Strikes

New York (CPA)—Strange things come to pass in baseball. Here are two western teams in the first division in the American league, and the first is barely out of the ground. Charley Conkey must be wondering whether those White Sox are feeling quite right.

Dizzy Dean has been sent back to Houston by the St. Louis Cardinals as unmanageable. Oodles of publicity have been splashed away on Dizzy. He won't even be shown to the east. A big circus has its freaks but they are always in the showshow, and after all base ball doesn't need any showshow with its present bareback riders and superb clowns.

FINISH PLANS FOR DISTRICT FIELD MEETS

Six Central Contests to Be Held in Preparation for County Finals

Plans have been completed for elimination contests among rural schools of the country in preparation for the annual county field day contests, according to A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools. Elimination contests will be held Thursday and Friday, May 14 and 15.

Six elimination contests are scheduled to precede the final county tests, the dates for which have not yet been set. In previous years the county contests were held in Appleton, but this year Mr. Meating is considering a change. The final contests may be conducted in two parts, each of which would be held in a different place. The centers and the dates for the final contests will be announced later.

This year, as usual, there again will be five contests for boys and the same number for girls. At the district or elimination contests all the schools from that particular district will enter their best athletes. The winners of the district contests will take part in the finals.

Contests for boys this year will include: Chinning the bar, 15 times to qualify; 100-yard dash, 15 seconds to qualify; standing broad jump, seven feet, six inches to qualify; running broad jump, 13 feet, six inches to qualify; and baseball throw for accuracy, three out of five hits at 50 feet to qualify.

Contests for girls this year will include: Balancing, with each contestant given one trial and a place awarded for each successful trial; 75-yard dash, 10 seconds to qualify; standing broad jump, a minimum of six feet, eight inches to qualify; potato race; and base ball throw for distance, 100 feet to qualify.

Contest centers this year will be at the Outagamie Rural Normal school, Kaukauna, with W. P. Hagman in charge; Seymour fair grounds, with Elmer E. Morgan in charge; Black Creek graded school, Harold Donaldson in charge; Bear Creek, with Kenneth Edge in charge; Shiocton, Monroe Manley in charge; and Hortonville, Donald Morgan in charge. The Kaukauna Seymour and Black Creek meets are scheduled for Thursday, May 15, and the Bear Creek, Shiocton, Elmer E. Morgan meets will be held, Friday, May 15.

Schools which will take part in the various district contests are listed below:

Kaukauna, schools from the towns of Freedom, Kaukauna, Grand Chute, Vandenbrook and Buchanan.

Elmer E. Morgan, schools from the towns of Black Creek, Black Creek Center and Black Creek village.

Seymour, schools from the towns of Seymour, Osborn and Oneida.

Bear Creek, schools from the towns of Bear Creek, Maple Creek and Bear Creek village.

Shiocton, schools from Liberty, Shiocton, Liberty, Bovina, Maine and Shiocton grades.

Hortonville, schools from Dale, Hortonville, Districts 1, 2 and 4, Liberty, Greenville, Ellington and Hortonville grades.

"Muskie's" Are Numerous In State's Northern Lakes

BY B. A. CLAFLIN

The impression has gone out among anglers that northern Wisconsin is nearly depleted of its muskies. Certain outdoor writers have even spread articles to that effect in their papers. It is hard to understand why they do that. I cannot but think such statements are made through ignorance, for there are, I actually believe more muskies in the waters of northern Wisconsin today than ever before existed.

For instance, in the flowage of the Manitowish river above the dams there are literally thousands of this fine fish. And they will strike with great regularity on plugs, spoons or what have you. I know of a party from Milwaukee who actually caught ninety-two muskies on one trip last summer. But let me say these fish were returned unharmed to the stream, with the exception of just four.

In the flowage mentioned the fish run small, as muskies go. More are caught that are under thirty inches in length, the legal size limit, than are over that length. But you can imagine the sport to be had when they will strike as readily as perch. And a twenty nine inch Esoc, even though the law says he must not be caught, will prove a formidable adversary, particularly if rather light tackle is used.

Another thing I want to mention is this: Contrary to general opinion, when plugs with several gangs of hooks are used, the fish that strikes is injured less than when a single hook is taken by him. The reason for that is perfectly logical. A lure with a single hook is almost always sucked down into the fish's throat, and in removing it he naturally is often injured badly. Whereas, with a gang, he is nearly always caught in the lips from which the hooks can easily be removed with no injury to the fish.

One mistake frequently made by musky anglers is to use too big a lure. If a spoon is used, and that is one of the very best lures for this fighter, many use sizes seven and even larger, while a number five is far more effective. Even a number four spoon used with a small green frog is one of the very best of baits.

It is true that many extremely big specimens are taken every season by anglers using a live sucker of a half pound or more weight. When these are used they are not cast, but simply allowed to float along while many yards of line are stripped out as the angler backs his boat a distance away where he awaits a visit from the hungry old cannibal.

This form of angling is slow and requires a world of patience. It is more in keeping with the Indians who have far more of this qualification than any white man. The keen white angler prefers to cast for this fish. And when a strike comes it is a vicious one, and it affords far more of a thrill as the surface boils from the rush of the victim.

To get up to the flowage of the Manitowish drive up to Minocqua and take highway 70 from there. Anyone in that region will direct you to the fishing places.

JUNIOR CHAMBER HEARS ADDRESS ON FOOTBALL

Men Must Be Sent Out in Small Boats to Chain Monsters, He Points Out

Whaling, one of the most thrilling and adventurous of careers, is fraught with danger, according to Captain "Sky" Clark, veteran whaler, who is here in charge of "Colossus", the gigantic mammal being exhibited every day and evening at the St. Paul depot on S. Oneida-st.

Captain Clark explained: "Even with modern equipment no way has been discovered that precludes sending men out in small boats to fasten chains and other rigging devices on the whale. Many times whales thought to be dead give a dying sweep of those powerful tails that can break the stoutest of small boats in two."

"However, firms like the Pacific Whaling Company, sponsors of the exhibition here, have instructed captains to wait several hours to make sure that the mammal is dead before they proceed with loading operations."

"Danger was very real, however, in the early days when I left home to join a whale hunting crew. Once upon a long voyage my ship came upon a crew of sixteen whales in one of the lagoons of Maldalen Bay. Nine boats were launched and sent into the center of the school. Five harpoons landed and then started one of the most savage and prolonged combats in my long and varied experience as a whale hunter. Two boats were smashed and sent

WHALING INDUSTRY IS FRAUGHT WITH DANGER, SAYS CLARK

Men Must Be Sent Out in Small Boats to Chain Monsters, He Points Out

Whaling, one of the most thrilling and adventurous of careers, is fraught with danger, according to Captain "Sky" Clark, veteran whaler, who is here in charge of "Colossus", the gigantic mammal being exhibited every day and evening at the St. Paul depot on S. Oneida-st.

Captain Clark explained: "Even with modern equipment no way has been discovered that precludes sending men out in small boats to fasten chains and other rigging devices on the whale. Many times whales thought to be dead give a dying sweep of those powerful tails that can break the stoutest of small boats in two."

"However, firms like the Pacific Whaling Company, sponsors of the exhibition here, have instructed captains to wait several hours to make sure that the mammal is dead before they proceed with loading operations."

"Danger was very real, however, in the early days when I left home to join a whale hunting crew. Once upon a long voyage my ship came upon a crew of sixteen whales in one of the lagoons of Maldalen Bay. Nine boats were launched and sent into the center of the school. Five harpoons landed and then started one of the most savage and prolonged combats in my long and varied experience as a whale hunter. Two boats were smashed and sent

COUNCIL WILL LIMIT AID TO POOR FOR RENT

Reports Reveal City's Cost for Needy Relief Is Still High

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—A lengthy session of the city council was held Tuesday evening.

Several aspects of the poor aid activities were considered. The aldermen went on record as favoring a maximum of $10 in payment of rent for poor. It was shown that a number of families have been receiving $12 to $15.

Poor aid is still a large item of the city expense. This was verified by orders amounting to $37 which is the amount paid during the past week. All of this amount was not issued to resident poor, it was pointed out. A report presented by Matt Nesbitt, custodian of the city hall and jail, showed that $37 breakfasts have been issued to all night lodgers at the city jail. Money used for the purchase of food used in this manner it was stated, is returned by the county.

The poor aid expenses here were decreased slightly by receipts from police justice and cost of police Police Justice Archibald collected $80 in fines last month, while the chief of police turned in fees of $11.50.

Various applications relating to the laying of calcium chloride on streets were referred to the board of public works. Residents of the vicinity of the new high school asked for the chemical to abate the dust due to the increased traffic on Dory and Washington streets. Street commissioner Gessie told the council that increased costs of distribution made it necessary to charge 6 cents per running foot instead of the former charge of 5 cents.

Open Bids
Bids were opened for painting the city stand pipe and for the erection of the new city tool and storage sheds. Both were referred to the board of public works for action. Two bids for the construction of the city sheds were entered. William Polley and Son's bid amounted to $3,600, while that of Henry Gude was for $6,146. The wide divergence of the figures caused the council to turn the bids over to the board of public works for action.

Mayor Wendlandt pointed out that $600 worth of lumber could be salvaged from the old sheds, and he felt that this should be utilized and an allowance made on the bids.

The matter relating to the stand pipe was held up when Alderman Kringle brought up the question as to compensation claims in case of accident during the job.

A letter was read from Frank M. Charles, Jr., Kaukauna, who applied for the position of city surveyor. The office is now held by Albert Miller, who will soon leave New London. Applications were received for building permits from Victor Thomas and George Manske. Joseph Meinhardt also applied for permission to build two log cabins to be occupied by tourists. The application of John McGowan for the position of life guard at the bathing beach was referred to the public properties committee.

Save Lives and money

What a terrifying sound it is, especially in the dead of night—the clangor and scream and jangle and roar of the fire-fighting apparatus, speeding breathlessly on its way in an effort to repair what human indifference and carelessness have brought about!

But it means more than a building gone up in smoke and ashes and the irreparable waste. It means, very often, loss of life, as well. The brave men who fight fires are frequent sufferers in this regard.

Just the repeating of fire statistics fails to get very far, apparently. Nobody pays much attention to them. But it is a national issue, important to every business man, every house owner. Each and all must, indirectly, pay for this gigantic piece of carelessness.

To solve the problem, people must buy fire fighting apparatus of their own; they must clean up fire-traps, they must be custodians of safety everywhere, they must use electric flashes in place of matches, and put valuables in fire-proof safes and cabinets. They must do all the hundred and one things which discourage fire or its hideous losses. And, last but not least, they must be prepared for the worst, by taking out fire insurance, in all its important forms.

COMMITTEES OF CITY COUNCIL ARE APPOINTED

Recommendations of Mayor Confirmed Last Night by Aldermen

Kaukauna—Standing committees, appointed Tuesday evening by Mayor B. W. Fargo, were approved by the city council.

Committees are: Finance—Aldermen, E. A. Brewster, chairman, George L. Smith and William Carnot; utilities—Carnot, chairman, Brewster and Bert Roberts; north district—Walter Cooper, chairman, William Gillen and Otto Luedtke; south district—Roberts, chairman, Smith and Ben Bell; fire and police, Luedtke, chairman, Gillen and Roberts; sewers—Gertz, chairman, Bell and Luedtke; Poor—Gillen, Cooper and Jacob Lummerding; ordinance and printing—Bell, chairman, Gertz and Luedtke; privilege—Bell, chairman, Gertz and Carnot; claims—Lummerding, chairman, Bell and Brewster; public health and education—Cooper, chairman, Smith and Gillen; licenses—Brewster, chairman, Roberts and Lummerding; public grounds and buildings—Smith, chairman, Cooper and Carnot.

Thomas Beardon was named north road commissioner; Dr. C. D. Boyd, city physician; and William Carnot, utility commissioner. Alvin Schubring, E. R. Landreman, E. A. Kalupa, Mike Gerharz and Chris Pendergast were named on the park board.

The council voted to use the three city banks as depositories, as in the past with the usual rate of interest of 2 per cent for part of the year and one and one half per cent during the rest of the year on daily balances. C. E. Raught, cashier of the First National bank, explained why the rate was used.

Explains Agreement He stated that the rate was set at a joint meeting of bank representatives and a council committee several years ago. At the present time the banks are getting approximately the same interest that is being paid to the city for the deposits. Many people are under the impression that the banks loan the city money at 6 per cent interest. This is not true, Mr. Raught said, as the city money is fluctuating and has to be kept so it can be obtained on short notice.

Estimates will be obtained by the board of public works on the cost of putting a topping on Park-st. The work will be done under the direction of the board. The motion was made by Alderman Roberts and passed by the council. Estimates will be obtained on tarvia and amiesite. In making the motion Alderman Roberts stated that the work can be done cheaply and employment can be given to local men.

Earnest Landreman, alderman of last term, stated that the people on the street were assessed $1 for street improvement last year, and that the work there was presumably finished. The street is now repaired by the city, people living in other districts will have to pay, although they already have paid for paving in front of their own homes. Complaints will be voiced by these property owners, he said.

Alderman Cooper said that the council is just finishing up a program started in a former city administration, and that the people knew at that time that they were paying for part of the street improvement.

There should be no reflection cast upon the present council in completing the work," he said. He added, however, that the work should have been completed last year.

Scores Petition Mayor B. W. Fargo scored the signers of the petition of protest against the removal of the horse watering trough on the intersection of Dodge-st and Crooks-ave, stating that it would be much better if they would put half the time spent on this matter to the better purpose of relieving unemployment.

"The petition casts a reflection upon the city government in stating 'To the board of public works, if there be such,' because each signer knows that there is such a board," Mayor Fargo said. "The council owes it to itself to report on the matter from the board of public works at the next council meeting and I am fully assured that if the report does not show full consideration to all signers of the petition, a hearing on the matter will be held."

He brought out that the matter was discussed informally by the councilmen, and that it was agreed that the trough was a detriment to safety in the middle of the intersection.

Alderman Cooper said that there was a meeting of the board of public works following the council meeting with Aldermen Cooper, Roberts and Gertz present. This was a majority of the board, he said, and it was agreed that the trough should be removed.

No Meeting, Claim The petition stated that there was no meeting of the board of public works between the time the matter of removing the fountain was referred to it and the time the fountain was torn out.

John Corcoran, one of the leaders who circulated the petition of protest, said that the fountain was more of a safety device to people crossing the street than a dangerous object. He claimed that some of the aldermen went to the light department and tried to have the water shut off before the trough was torn out. It was underhanded work and the water was shut off ten days before the

DROUTH INJURES HAY AND PASTURE

County Agent Advises Farmers to Plant Emergency Crops at Once

Many farms that had hay lands damaged by last year's drouth to the extent that they show evidence of producing a poor yield of hay this year will be in need of planting to emergency hay crops this spring, according to indications.

To meet this situation several emergency hay crops are being suggested by County Agent Gus Sell as a part of the agricultural program of Outagamie-co.

A combination of peas and oats is recommended as being the best early substitutes for clover hay providing it is cut when the oats are in the dough stage regardless of the growth of the peas. Hay made from peas and oats is regarded as palatable. It can be easily cured, and it will provide a quality of hay about equal to clover in digestible protein.

For this combination, one and one-half bushels of each is recommended as the seeding rate per acre. Any of the Canadian field peas will yield well although on light soils the Canadian green and scotch usually provide more foliage than the common Canadian yellow. This combination may even be used to seed in spots of the field that have dried out or show too thin a stand of hay to be worth while as such.

Soybeans may also be regarded as an emergency hay and can be planted alone or in combination with other crops. According to George M. Briggs, of the Wisconsin college of agriculture, soybeans can be planted two weeks after the usual corn planting time and will thrive even on acid soils. In sections where sudan grass is known to do well, Briggs suggests a seedling combination of ten pounds of sudan grass to one and one-half bushels of soybeans per acre. Where sudan grass is not held in high regard, soybeans and oats seeded at the rate of one and one-half bushels of each per acre may be used. Soybean seed should always be inoculated before planting.

When sown alone from two to two and a half bushels of soybeans are used. Leaflets giving more detailed information on emergency hay crops can be secured at Mr. Sell's office.

Soybeans should prove to be a popular crop this year, Briggs believes, because of the fact that the seed is relatively plentiful and cheap.

FEWER BANKS IN NINTH DISTRICT

Decrease of 235 Shown During 1930, Report Indicates

Minneapolis — (AP)—Banks in the Ninth Federal Reserve district showed a decrease of 235 during 1930 and bank deposits decreased $87,000,000 during the period to a total of $1,547,457,000 according to an analysis reported today by the Minneapolis Federal Reserve bank.

During the period, loans decreased $98,500,000 to a total of $356,281,000. The deposit total was above the low point of 1921-1922 but loans decreased to the lowest point since 1915, the report showed. Significant changes during the year included: A reduction of $13,000,000 in investment holdings. Reduction of $7,000,000 in borrowings from other banks. An increase of $3,000,000 in cash and balances due from banks. A drop of $7,000,000 in "other real estate," an account classification covering tangible holdings of banks distinguished from the bank's house and other operating properties.

City banks and country banks in the district which covers Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, and a part of the states of Michigan and Wisconsin, had opposite trends in deposits while those in the country showed in the aggregate a reduction of $98,000,000.

"It is interesting to note that banks in rural Minnesota which is the most thorough exponent of diversified farming among the northwestern states, suffered a decrease of only three per cent in deposits during the year," the report said. "In contrast, deposits in North Dakota decreased 13 per cent; in South Dakota, 21 per cent; in Montana, 9 per cent; in Wisconsin, 7 per cent, and in northern Michigan, 5 per cent. Minnesota country banks and banks in Montana and northern Michigan increased their investment holdings during 1930."

Mad Pursuit

BY JESSIE DOUGLAS FOX

SYNOPSIS: The motherless, Nora Lake decides that she cannot remain with her father, Julian, after his coming marriage to Mrs. Nevers. She seeks a way out by maneuvering a proposal from Nicholas Thayer, who has injured his hand while visiting the Lakes. The strange artist, discouraged upon learning that he can never paint again, drowns himself a few hours after their marriage leaving his bride on the ship for America. In Albany, where Nicholas' people live, she is met by his brother Jonathan, who she once knew, but who has forgotten her. Coldly and wordlessly reproachful, he arranges to take her to his step-sister, Damon. Meanwhile she is to spend the night with her aunt in the same city.

Nora turned to Jon angrily. "This couldn't be the house!"

Jonathan Thayer tapped the step with his foot as though he were impatient to have the whole thing over. The next minute the door was opened by a young man who eyed them eagerly.

"I am Dr. More."

"Does a Mrs. Durant live here?" Emily Durant? Nora cried.

The interest died out of the young man's face. He nodded and said he believed Mrs. Durant was in. If they would go straight down the hall.

This dark narrow hall had a flight of stairs leading up and down from it. It was dreary and poverty-stricken. Jon moved sideways with the bags as that the first glimpse Nora had was into a large, shabby, book-filled room.

These were her father's people. Her aunt Emily here beside the lamp, a woman with deep lines graven into her face, and two dark eyes. Her cousin Francis, dark and lovely, who stood with a violin pressed against her shoulder, and, as Nora stepped forward and they lifted startled faces to her, she saw her older cousin Hallett rise suddenly and move grotesquely, and uncertainly on crippled feet, toward her.

But it was Aunt Emily who reached her first and took her into a warm embrace.

"It's Nora, isn't it? We hoped you would come straight to us!"

Nora introduced Jon Thayer to them. She had a strong impression of her father's family. Of a feeling of poverty that brought back her own childhood with its dirt and drudgery and petty pretense. Her father had known all the time that his sister and her children were middle-class people. No matter what hardships she had gone through she had always bolstered up her courage with the knowledge that her father came of a fine old family. This, then, was the truth.

Nora heard a controversy raging behind her. Jon must hear it too. "She can have my room."

"But where will you sleep?"

"She can't sleep in Fran's room with the children. They'll keep her awake. I can sleep on a cot in the store room."

"She can have my room!" a small fair child cried.

Aunt Em waved them all to silence. She told Nora that Francis would take her upstairs at once. Francis went ahead up the stairs while Jon followed with the bags.

Nora was so worn out now from the emotional strain that even the flight of bare scuffed stairs seemed like a conquest. Up the first flight up the stairs, where Francis stood waiting in a lighted attic room, so exquisitely clean and bare its poverty smote her afresh. Jon put down her bags and stood waiting to say good-bye to her. She knew he was pitying her. She stood staring with angry brows at the picture on the bare wall. What's Hope. What a forlorn creature!

Jon said with a compassionate smile that made her dislike him even more violently. "I'll come for you to-morrow afternoon then?"

She would have liked to tell him that she never wanted to see him again. But Jon was only eager to be off; and after saying good-night to her cousin he turned and ran down the stairs as though he were rid of a painful duty.

She wondered if he were not saying to himself, "Thank God, that's over!"

SUGGESTS AIR RULE

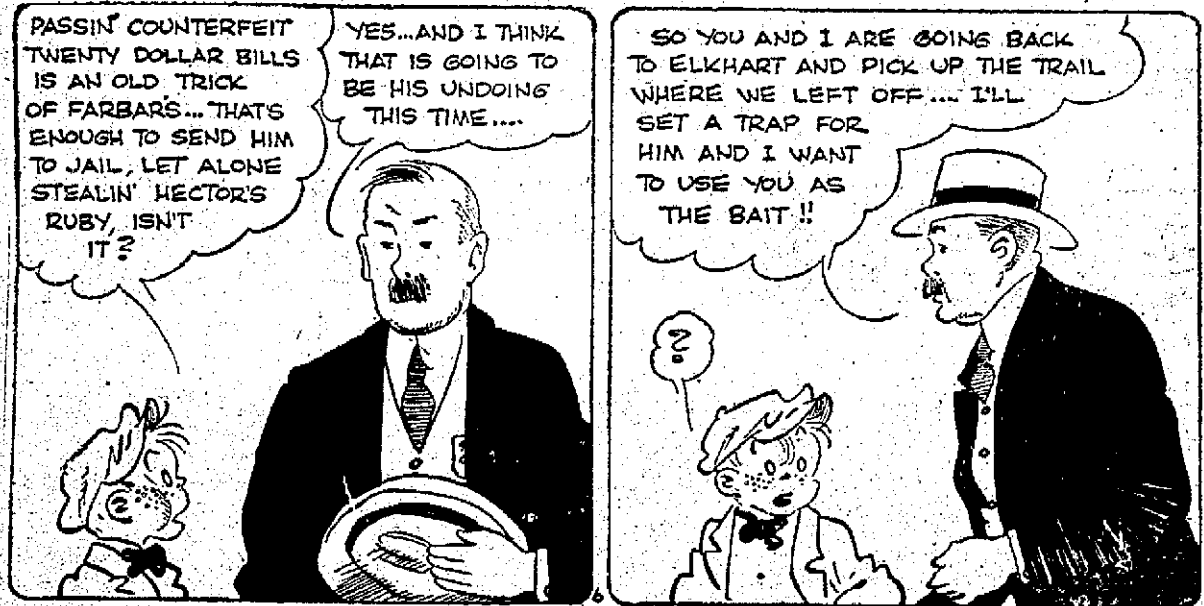

Washington—Maj. Gen. James E. Pochet, Chief of the Air Corps, believes that a rule should be adopted in the United States specifying that aviators spend a certain minimum number of hours in the year in order to retain their licenses. He says that such a law would keep pilots in the air often and would result in increased safety through keeping aviators acquainted with their planes and other factors making for safe flying.

MATERIALS FOR HOME BUILDING DOWN IN PRICE

Almost Every Item Needed for Construction Costs Less—Now

With building materials and labor cheaper than they have been in many years, now is the most opportune time to do needed home rebuilding and remodeling. Appleton building supply men and contractors say.

Prices of building materials are from 3 to 15 per cent. lower than they have been in the past decade, and the unemployment situation has resulted in a vastly increased efficiency on the part of workmen.

Appleton building supply men, contractors and builders have been making a careful analysis of costs, and in almost every line of material useful in construction or remodeling of homes, prices are found to be far below normal.

Probably Won't Last
They point out, however, that there is no positive proof that prices of building materials will stay the same during the remainder of the year. Appletonians who are contemplating the construction of new homes or remodeling their present abodes, would do well to carry out their plans before the present economic situation adjusts itself, dealers state.

Contractors and supply men in Appleton as well as other cities in the state are cooperating with civic committees on building and employment by encouraging reconstruction programs.

If Appletonians, who are convinced that their homes will need rebuilding and remodeling eventually, decide to put their plans into effect this spring, they will not only be benefitting themselves by taking advantage of reduced prices, but will be doing their part to alleviate the unemployment situation, one builder states.

Rough Lumber Down
A comparison of building material costs over a period of 10 years shows that rough lumber is now selling at prices ranging from 3 to 10 per cent. below normal.

Finished lumber, on which a great amount of labor has been expended, also is selling below normal figures. In some of the better grades of lumber, reductions from 3 to 5 per cent. have been noted.

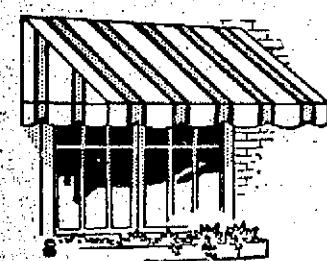

Window sashes, door frames, doors and other kinds of mill work are selling at much reduced prices. Hardwood flooring, both maple and oak, which is former years' survivors, prices have been reduced from 1 to 3 per cent. Shingles, which are playing an important part in the remodeling of the exteriors of homes are cheaper now than they have been in years. Many people have already taken advantage of the cut in shingle prices, and are facing the exteriors of their homes with them.

Brick, stone and other similar materials being considered in remodeling plans are quoted below normal figures, supply men state. The wage scale for masons has been reduced, and many workmen in this craft are seeking employment.

Prices, which during former periods of price adjustments held their own, have reached the lowest figures in the past 10 to 15 years.

POLA NEGRI TALKS ABOUT CAREER AND AMERICAN HUSBAND

Hollywood, Calif.—(AP)—After an absence of two years, Pola Negri, Polish film star, was back in Hollywood Tuesday, talking of an American husband, the superiority of American styles and a new career in the talkies.

She said she was not interested in the recent marriage of Prince Serge Mdivani, whom she divorced in Paris a few weeks ago, to Mary McCormic, opera star.

"All I am interested in now is my screen career," she said. "For more than two years, I have been in a trance. I have had a wonderful rest. I am inspired again and happy to be back."

"Yes, there's going to be a new husband. He's an American, too. Very wealthy and prominent. But I will not tell his name until I see how my first picture turns out."

Miss Negri complimented American styles as better than the Parisian, but she brought with her several trunks full of the latest Parisian models.

PROTESTS FARMERS' COW TEST APPEAL

Iowa Attorney General Plea to U. S. Supreme Court Frivolous

Washington—(AP)—Attorney General Fletcher of Iowa has filed with the United States Supreme court a protest against its entertaining the appeal of M. J. Loftus and other farmers of Mitchell county, Iowa, challenging the validity of the Iowa law for the inspection of cattle for bovine tuberculosis.

The statute provides for an application of the tuberculin test to all dairy and breeding cattle and for all those found affected to be destroyed. The attorney general declared frivolous the appeal of Mitchell county farmers from the ruling of the Iowa Supreme court that the law was within the state's police power.

Fletcher declared that under the Iowa Supreme court decision, owners of animals wrongfully destroyed had the right to recover damages. This he insisted, protected them from being deprived of property without due process of law. The statute, he asserted, was enacted in the interest of public health and public welfare, and was similar to that in force in every other state.

He contended congress had over a long period of years been directing federal activities along the same lines. He said the United States Supreme court, as well as the highest courts in every state which have passed on the subject, had sustained such laws as a valid exercise of police power and urged that the appeal be dismissed.

The above deal presents one of those situations where North, whose partner as Dealer has made an opening bid of One Spade, should give an immediate jump either at Contract or Auction.

At Contract such jump assist should be to Four. At Auction Three would seem to be sufficient for the reason that it does not seem likely that an opponent would bid Four of another suit if partner had an original bid of One.

It might well be, however, that East could overcall One Spade and that such declaration might be carried to a point where North and South's game might be taken away from them at a comparative slight loss.

Salient Points of Bidding

Contract: South opens the bidding with One Spade. It will be noted that this is an absolute minimum opening bid made on 2 Quick Tricks. In many cases such bid is just as valuable as a defensive measure as an offensive measure. Indeed it is infrequent

M'KELVIE DENOUNCES OPPONENTS OF CO-OPS

Omaha, Neb.—(AP)—In the absence of Samuel R. McKelvie, grain member of the Federal Farm board, C. B. Stewart of Lincoln, Neb., president of the Farmers West Central Grain company, Tuesday read before stockholders of the company, a speech prepared for delivery by McKelvie, in which he denounced opponents of cooperative grain marketing.

McKelvie, scheduled to deliver the address, failed to arrive in Omaha in time for the meeting. Stockholders of the company, which in its first year of existence handled approximately 2,000,000 bushels of grain, heard McKelvie's message outline four principles by which, he said, cooperatives might be that such a bid will produce a game unless partner should happen to have a Third Hand bid. Its value is to a great extent in that it may prevent an adverse game or provide a partial score.

In the above case, however, it does happen to produce a game for it was not made, North could not have anything resembling a Third Hand bid and the deal would be passed out.

West passes and North jumps the bid to Four Spades, concluding the bidding.

It should be noted that with the type of support that North has, he should not resort to a forcing take-out for he has not a high card value in his hand that would make a Slam at all probable.

Auction: South opens the bidding with the minimum opening bid of One Spade. West passes and North, in order to prevent a possibly embarrassing bid by East, jumps the bid to Three Spades, concluding the bidding.

The Play
West opens the Queen of Clubs and the Trick is taken with the Ace in North's hand. A small trump is led from Dummy and taken by Declarer with the King.

Before continuing trumps, South starts the establishment of the Heart suit in Dummy, leading the Seven and finishing the Jack in North's hand. East takes the trick with the Queen and continues the Club in order to force North to trump.

A small Heart is led by North and trumped by Declarer. Dummy is put in the lead with the Queen of Spades in order to lead a third round of Hearts which Declarer trumps.

Another Club is trumped by Dummy and a fourth round of Hearts establishes a long-card of that suit in Dummy. North and South losing one Heart and two Diamonds.

CLEAN UP EARLY TO PREVENT FIRE.

Burn Dead Grass, Other Inflammable Material, Director Advises

Madison.—That occurrence of serious fires destructive to life, property and forests can be materially reduced through early seasonal clean-ups by burning dead grass and other inflammable waste material, is the statement just made by John S. Bordner, director of the economic land survey of the division of state development in the department of agriculture and markets. Roadsides, vacant lots, abandoned fields, open grass meadows and swamps filled with dry grass should be burned over early in the spring when there is little or no danger of fire spreading to forest areas, Mr. Bordner says.

Fire is a friend of the prairies and a foe to forests, says Mr. Bordner. The prairie species are more vigorous and aggressive than the forest plants and spread everywhere when fire and axe open the way.

After visiting Adams, Wood, Taylor, Rusk, Sawyer, Bayfield, Douglas, and Burnett counties, Mr. Bordner said that while there were numerous small fires, the very bad fires which swept southeastern Rusk county was the result of a fire started in the "beaver meadows" along tributaries of the Jump river.

Numerous villages which experienced losses in the recent fires could have prevented these by an early spring clean-up and burning of grass in all vacant lots around the town. Mr. Bordner pointed out that the village of Drummond burned its vacant land early when snow still lay on the forest and brush land. As a result, the entire area passed over the danger period without a damaging fire, while other villages were compelled to save themselves by back-firing.
